'DIEFENBAKER WEEPS WHEN OTHERS ARE GAY'

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker was described by a Russian paper today as "a man who weeps when others are gay" because he has told provincial premiers to prepare for atomic war.

Soviet Russia, newspaper of the Russian republic, says it would appear that the most important problem before the Canadian government "is that of the evacuation of population and the building of shelters against atom bombs and radioactive fallout."

This comes at a time when the world is rejoicing at the brighter prospects of peace, the paper says.

"Mr. Diefenbaker is obviously one of those people who weeps at weddings and laughs at funerals. It would be more appropriate for him to laugh at the funeral of the cold war."

Wheat Pool Founder, Sapiro Dead

SASKATOON (CP)—Aaron Sapiro, 75, whose vision and inspiration led to the formation of the three Prairie wheat pools in the early 1920's, died Monday night in Los Angeles, following an operation for arthritis, it was learned here.

Mr. Sapiro, a small, fiery lawyer, zealously upheld the principles of co-operative marketing throughout his life and was the only person ever honored with the freedom of the City of Saskatoon.

Thirty-three years ago he was cheered by 2,000 farmers and others at a meeting which served as springboard for formation of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section). The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool was also established at about that time.

BORN IN POVERTY

Mr. Sapiro was born in poverty in San Francisco and as a child sold matches and newspapers on the streets. He was kept for six years in an orphanage but lived to reorganize it.

He came to Saskatchewan in the early 1920's and stumped the province to help build a grain empire based on the principle of co-operative distribution and sale. Among his co-workers that year was J. H. Wesson, now Saskatchewan Wheat Pool president.

It seems quite ironic that you and council would consider inviting me to City Hall to speak, having done everything possible in the past year to keep me from being heard," he continued in the letter of acceptance.

"I must point out to you also that you may have unintentionally overlooked a very important principle in that I and other ratepayers are not responsible to you and council."

"The mayor and aldermen are responsible to us, the ratepayers."

Mr. Smith also invited council to attend his second campaign rally Wednesday in the Crystal Garden.

Immediate reaction at City Hall was extremely varied, ranging from:

Ald. Dowell's assistance that the Smith allegations were a personal matter between the mayorality candidate and himself but no one else because they reflected on his reputation as chairman of the lands committee.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot's stand that he would meet Mr. Smith "anywhere and at anytime" if Mr. Smith would produce facts to back his insinuations.

Ald. M. H. Mooney's position that Mr. Smith already has been invited and should show up Thursday afternoon without attaching conditions.

Nuclear Powers Clear Way For New Session at Geneva

U.K. OFFERS MISSILE SALE TO GERMANY

LONDON (UPI) — Britain has decided to enter the European missile market in competition with U.S.-made rockets, government sources disclosed today.

Britain's first offer of a short-range missile capable of carrying a small nuclear warhead will be made to West Germany.

Defence Minister Harold Watkinson flies to Bonn Dec. 1, for talks with Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss when the missile offer was expected to be reviewed.

Watkinson's scheduled two-day visit to Bonn is to prepare for closer co-operation among Britain, Germany and other European NATO allies in the field of arms production.

The aim is to establish closer integration, and to avoid duplication.

GENEVA (Reuters)—The United States, Russia and Britain today surmounted another barrier stalling progress on a three-way agreement to outlaw nuclear test explosions.

The three nuclear powers agreed on the agenda to be followed by their scientists at a meeting to discuss detection of underground test explosions.

Scientists of the three nations will start their session Wednesday and report back to the full political conference by Dec. 11.

A communique issued by the three conference delegates—James Wadsworth of the United States, Russia's Semjon Tsarapkin and Britain's Sir Michael Wright—outlined the terms of reference the scientists will follow in their meetings.

WHAT READING NEEDED? —The technical experts will decide what readings on detection instruments would justify inspection on the site of a suspected nuclear explosion.

The experts will consider "all data and studies relevant" to the detection and identification of underground explosions, as opposed to natural earthquakes.

They will "consider possible improvements of techniques and instrumentation."

Soviet scientists are expected to submit data alongside that of the United States.

TV SHOW 'STAMPED WITH SWASTIKAS'

Austria Protests CBC Nazis

OTTAWA (CP) — The Austrian embassy here said Monday it has launched "a categorical protest" against a CBC television program depicting an Austrian village still in Nazi control long after the Second World War.

The external affairs department said it has passed the protest along to the CBC after advising the embassy that the government is not responsible for CBC programming. The corporation made no immediate comment.

"The story shown on the program lacked any foundation whatsoever," the embassy says in a statement. "It is deeply regretted that a completely distorted picture of conditions in Austria should have served as background for a fiction story of this kind."

Austrian officials said they were announcing this through the press because the embassy is "sorry to note that its protest has not led to any public clarification."

An embassy spokesman said particular objection was taken to the program because it showed an Austrian village "rampant with Nazis" and because most of the story took place in an inn "stamped all over with swastikas."

The program was entitled "No Return" and was broadcast Oct. 28 from Toronto as the first half-hour program in the CBC's winter Unforeseen series.

Plane Strikes Fiery Death Into Homes

Chicago Crash Kills 9

CHICAGO (AP) — A cargo plane returning to Midway Airport because of a fire warning, plowed into a row of houses in rainy darkness just before dawn today and sprayed a sleeping neighborhood with fiery death.

At least nine persons were killed—the crew of three aboard the Trans-World Airlines Constellation and six residents of homes drenched with blazing high octane fuel.

TWA in New York said the plane had landed in Chicago, discharged cargo and taken off again. Then a fire warning flashed on the instrument panel. The pilot began circling to land again when the crash occurred.

ROOFED CAVED IN

In a flash, a string of houses and apartment buildings at the southeast corner of the airfield burst into flames. Firemen said 10 dwellings were set afire, some from the plane fuel, others from flames from those sprayed with gas.

Thomas Fracassi, 31, occupant of a house hit by the plane, said the aircraft caved the roof into a bedroom. Two of his three small children were hurt. Fracassi, his wife, Geraldine, 29, and their third child, were unharmed.

The Fracassi home burst into flames. Fire enveloped a six-apartment, three-story building behind his house.

George Hlavacek escaped with his wife and 8½-month-old son Jimmy.

"I ran around the side of the house," said Mr. Hlavacek. "Bricks from the back of the house had been shoved into the kitchen, and the back of the house was burning."

CRY FOR HELP

Mrs. Hlavacek said that after she ran out to the front of the house she heard a voice from a neighboring house crying for help.

She thought the voice was that of a teen-age boy. She said the youth must have been buried under debris.

"Fires were starting all over around us," she said. "Everything was confused."

Minutes later some neighbors searched the corner house, she said, located a young man and dragged him from the debris.

Fire Lieut. William Mallory, commanding a company of firefighters digging in the wreckage of a two-story apartment building, said:

"A woman ran from the building screaming, 'Oh my God, my babies, my babies.' Then she collapsed in shock. "We haven't found any children, but Lord only knows what we will find when we get in there."

TV Only Spot Left To Watch Grey Cup

If you're bent on watching the Winnipeg-Hamilton contest from a perch in the 30,000-seat Canadian National Exhibition Stadium, only a scalper can help.

Legitimately sold tickets? "There's not a one to be had here," Toronto Argonauts ticket manager George Stockwell said Monday night. "With 16,000 subscribers on our rolls, our 6,200 allotment of tickets went to those with six or more years seniority."

TWO FEARED DEAD

Floods Retreat In Washington

SEATTLE (AP) — The flood crisis in western Washington, worst in a quarter of a century, began to ease slowly today after wreaking havoc in mountains and lowlands and possibly taking two lives.

George Schaake, wealthy Ellensburg meat packer, was feared to be the disaster's second victim. His expensive car was found smashed, twisted and empty at the edge of a Snoqualmie Pass washout, half buried in mud and debris.

Cross-state travel through the Cascades remained sharply curtailed.

About 1,100 persons fled their homes or were rescued as the muddy floodwaters inundated thousands of acres of rich dairy and truck farmland in lower valleys.

Worst damage was along the Snohomish, Snoqualmie and Green Rivers within 50-mile radius of Seattle. The loss will be counted in the millions.

Rivers crested Monday or during Monday night at record or near-record levels and the weather bureau said light rain showers in the next 24 hours would not halt the drop.

Clearing and cooler weather was in prospect Wednesday after a record warm wave both in lowlands and the Cascades.

COPTER RESCUE

Most rescue operations were completed in the valleys, which resembled vast lakes dotted by small hills where livestock huddled above the swirling waters.

National guard helicopters were scheduled to drop food and medical supplies—mainly water purification tablets—to the 250 inhabitants of Lester, a railway and logging community isolated by high water in Stampede Pass.

Helicopters also were to attempt the rescue of five persons marooned at Camp Meany, a ski lodge in Snoqualmie Pass.

Many farm families left reluctantly—unwilling to abandon homes and animals. Some refused to budge.

Youth Held After Murder Of TCA Clerk

TORONTO (CP) — John Hartford, 19, of nearby Port Credit was charged with murder today in the shooting death of James Beverly Wright, 30-year-old chief office clerk for Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Wright's body was found this morning at the rear entrance to TCA's operations building at suburban Malton Airport, his chest riddled with bullets.

Two airline employees, Joyce Holiday and Marilyn Houston, found Wright sprawled partly inside an office doorway. Police said he had been hit by four bullets fired into the front of his body, one piercing the heart.

Detectors who arrested Hartford seized two .22-calibre rifles and a supply of ammunition. They said he had been fired by TCA a month ago.

Outside the youth's home was a car with a hose line attached to the exhaust pipe and leading into the car's interior.

COLIN CAMERON
... hits evasion.

Former MP 'Horried' By Gagardi

Highways Minister Gagardi's evasiveness came under heavy fire Monday night from former Nanaimo CCF MP Colin Cameron.

Referring to the Pentecostal minister's behavior during a recent radio debate with B.C. Federation of Labor secretary Pat O'Neal, Mr. Cameron said:

"Listening to him I realized to what depths politics in B.C. had dropped."

He said he was "horried" to think such a man should be a minister of the Crown.

Mr. Cameron was addressing the Victoria CCF nominating convention at Wordsworth Hall.

'BENCHMAN'

He lumped Mr. Gagardi in with other cabinet ministers as "benchmen" of Wenner-Gren who was undertaking the "uneconomic development of the Peace, to satisfy the requirements of the American industrial scene."

In the east B.C. is ridiculed for the easy manner in which it is ready to give away its resources, said Mr. Cameron.

The CCF, he said, is trying to forge a weapon—the proposed labor alliance—which would "clear up this mess."

NOW THEY KNOW

One of the reasons the CCF didn't win in Victoria in the last provincial election, he said, was because the civil servants here "didn't know which side their bread was buttered on."

He said they switched their support from the Conservatives to the Social Credit. Now he hoped they had decided to support the CCF.

Old Campaigners Chosen by CCF

They are Mrs. May Campbell, shopkeeper, 1740 Fort; Neil Hindle, ship plater, 501 Niagara; and Victor Williams, service station operator, 1625 Davie.

Mrs. Campbell has been candidate in provincial elections in Victoria since 1945 and a federal candidate in 1953.

Mr. Williams, chairman of the Victoria association, is also a former federal candidate, and Mr. Hindle is a former provincial candidate.

30 ELIGIBLE

Defeated in the balloting were electrician Fred Bevis and shopkeeper W. A. Scott. Although over 60 attended the meeting, less than 30 were qualified to cast ballots.

Mrs. Campbell said she had announced during her last campaign that she would not stand again, but being active in the party since its formation in 1933 "I find I just can't stand on the sidelines."

She said she felt long-time members owe it to those new members expected from the ranks of labor to remain active to protect the original party policies.

POLICE CARRIED HIM AWAY

Alderman Gets the Hoist

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — A city alderman who shouted above the banging of Mayor Beth Wood's gavel here Monday night was lifted from the council chambers in his chair by two police officers.

The action came after council, by a 4-2 vote, supported a recommendation urging formation of a labor negotiating committee in co-operation with other Greater Vancouver municipalities.

Ald. J. Lewis Sangster opposed the proposal continuously.

When he continued to shout above the gavel, Mrs. Wood asked city clerk George Brine to step a few doors down to the police station to bring back officers to remove Ald. Sangster.

"I refuse to move," said Mr. Sangster when two policemen entered the chamber. "She's got no right to throw me out."

The officers stepped towards him.

"You'll have to carry me out," said the alderman.

The officers picked up the alderman in his chair and carried him into an adjoining committee room.

SCARBOROUGH, England—A retired printer living on a small pension today became the biggest individual winner in the history of Britain's soccer pools with a win of £265,352 ($742,963).

Arthur Webb, 70, scored his victory with a wager of one shilling and sixpence (21 cents.) There have been larger first prizes in the past, but they have been shared by more than one person.

Another printer turned up as a pool winner today. Sydney Keen, 55, a London linotype operator, won £102,511 on a bet of 10 shillings.

PRESQUE ISLE, Me. — A tall spruce, destined to be the national Christmas tree this year, will be cut down Friday and shipped to Washington, where it will be set up on the White House lawn.

The tree is on the property of Miss Alice Kimball, 81, a life-long Republican.

"If there had been a Democrat in office," she declared, "I wouldn't have donated the tree."

LONDON — Princess Margaret laughed uproariously Monday night at a naughty play set in an Irish brothel and full of jokes at the Royal Family.

The play was The Hostage, the work of the unruly Irish playwright, Brendan Behan. It deals with a young Englishman kidnapped by the Irish Republican Army and held hostage in a crowded bawdy house.

"I have never laughed so much for years," said the Princess.

Twice this year the hard-drinking Behan has staggered in, interrupted the actors from the orchestra and ended up by rolling in the aisles singing Irish ballads.

"Very fortunately," said the manager, "Mr. Behan was in Dublin last night."

TEL AVIV—An Israeli Airline official claims in a damage suit that novelist Leon Uris ridiculed him in his best-seller Exodus. Dov Landau says a character in the novel HOLLYWOOD — Actress-model Susan Magness was granted a divorce today from actor Charles Chaplin, Jr., when she complained she lost 23 pounds in two weeks worrying about Chaplin's whereabouts at night.

The 23-year-old actress told Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle that Chaplin, 34, "would leave home in the morning and not come back until 3 or 4 a.m."

HOLYOKE, Mass. — Unless the Hadley-Falls Trust Company comes to terms with a small segment of the U.S. Air Force, the quarters of Sgt. James Walsh will be graced with a novel decoration—the bank's cheque for $4,000, 022.75.

The sergeant's wife was given the cheque when she applied for a mere $22.75. The bank wants it returned, after firing the teller who composed it on a cheque-writing machine.

Mrs. Walsh says the bank can have it back if it rehires the author, Miss Ann Hellwell.

"If I have to keep it," she said, "I'll frame it."

2 Cadets Win Scholarships

Rainbow Sea Cadet corps members Michael Muirhead and Richard Felton have each been awarded $250 scholarships by the Navy League of Canada. It was announced at a recent meeting of the Victoria Branch.

A scroll of honor for outstanding service was presented to Alec Campbell, a retired officer of the corps.

It was also announced at the meeting that Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will present the cadet band with eight side drums, two tenor, and one bass drum.

'FEW WORDS'

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell's announcement that he will accept Mr. Smith's invitation and turn up at the Wednesday campaign meeting "to request an opportunity to say a few words after Mr. Smith has spoken."

Ald. Dowell insisted that the whole issue "is not a council nor an election matter at all. This is a personal matter between Mr. Smith and myself and I'm going to write that to him."

"Every land deal in the last six years that I have been chairman of the lands committee has gone through my hands and there isn't the slightest suspicion about any of them that I know of."

"I take Mr. Smith's statement at his first public meeting, referring to 'suspicious' land deals, as a slur on my integrity and honesty."

"All I am asking for is proof of his insinuations and if he brings forward any facts I will immediately ask for an investigation."

NO CIRCUS

"There is no reason to make a circus out of the charges which he has made."

"All we want for him to do is to appear before council and substantiate, if he can, what he said by innuendoes. The press will be present and everything will be public."

Mayor Scourrah said he was sure council "would go along with me in inviting him to appear, if he has facts to bring before us. And I'm quite sure council is willing to give him sufficient time to present his case."

SHOWDOWN

Ald. Proudfoot said he was prepared to accept Mr. Smith's conditions in order to get a showdown.

"I'm not on council to hear propaganda from Mr. Smith but I'm quite prepared to meet Mr. Smith anytime and anywhere if he will keep to facts and quote names."

Ald. Edgell said if Mr. Smith "is sincere then he should be delighted to accept Mr. Dowell's challenge as is."

"The dignity of council must be maintained and council chambers should not be turned into a political platform."

But Ald. Edgell pointed out that Mr. Smith's reply shifted his previous attacks on Mayor Scourrah to the whole council "and I myself would be delighted to answer every one of his innuendoes personally."

"I think it is time that any poison that might have been put in anyone's mind by Mr. Smith should be brought out and aired to the fullest at Thursday's meeting."

REPRIEVE from hanging Dec. 8 has been granted 14-year-old Steven Truscott, Clinton, Ont., schoolboy, convicted of the murder of a 12-year-old girl. Execution date has been set back to Feb. 16 to give the boy's lawyer time to prepare an appeal.

$10 MILLION IN BRIBES 'OFFERED' LONG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louisiana's Gov. Earl Long was quoted Monday night as estimating he had been offered $10,000,000 worth of bribes during his political career.

The estimate was made to Look Magazine writer Robert Wool, according to his article in the current issue of the magazine.

He noted that Long told a country audience last summer that he'd just been offered a $100,000 bribe but told them not to worry about it.

"That's not the first bribe I've been offered," Long said. "It won't be the last one. But when I take one, I hope God stops my crooked, heathen brain from operating."

Wool said Long has acknowledged that U.S. internal revenue agents have been investigating him for 13 years. "They found not one damn thing," Long was quoted as saying "—and this time, they will find less. I've been careful. I've destroyed all the records they can harass me about."

HALF CITY PARALYZED BY DESPERATE SUICIDE BID

VANCOUVER (CP) — A small, sick man who paralyzed half a city Monday in a tense three-and-a-half hour drama enacted high above mist-shrouded Lions Gate bridge, was resting quietly today in Essondale mental home.

Committed under the Mental Health Act was Etienne LeClerc, 48, who stopped hearts and traffic in the city Monday afternoon when he climbed to a suicide perch 360 feet above the murky waters of Burrard Inlet.

Police said today the bearded, unemployed logger, central figure in the drama as he waved a bottle and cursed would-be rescuers while he clung precariously — sometimes by one leg — to a cable ladder, may be suffering an incurable disease of the stomach.

Their information came from a letter found in LeClerc's possession. They declined to discuss it pending further investigation.

Fireman Ralph (Buck) Rogers, who spent more than an hour with LeClerc 164 feet above the bridge road before coaxing him down and preventing his final, desperate suicide bid, had made a similar rescue on the same span last June 30.

On that day, Rogers, a member of the fire department rescue squad, joined two other firemen in a struggle with a kicking, would-be suicide on a similar cable ladder.

LeClerc began his suicide bid at 2:15 p.m. He was immediately spotted as he began his climb clenching a bottle in one hand.

As police, firemen, priests, a helicopter and motor launches sped to the area at the entrance to Vancouver harbor hundreds paused in the dismal downpour, then waited out the drama.

CLOSED BRIDGE

Police immediately closed off the bridge, fearing that traffic vibrations would shake LeClerc from his perch.

Toward the homegoing rush hour, as motorists left for their north shore homes, an estimated 10,000 cars converged on the Second Narrows bridge at the other end of the harbor.

Father Charles B. Paris and Father J. Michael Bach climbed to a tower and used a megaphone to speak to LeClerc from about 30 feet away. "Come down with us," they called repeatedly to him in French and English. "Don't do it, Tommy. Don't jump, in the name of God, don't jump."

Jabbering and gesticulating, LeClerc shouted back:

"If you got to go, you got to go. You can't hurt nobody."

EVERY INCH

Finally LeClerc said he would come down.

Soviets Claim Record

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has claimed a world speed record for helicopters 167.98 miles an hour. Press reports said the 80-passenger M-16 helicopter set that mark on a 60-mile flight. Major Roy Anderson of the United States set the previous record of 162.74 miles an hour in 1956.

"It was a fight every inch of the way down," said Rogers later. "And when we got about 12 feet from the bottom he did actually try to jump."

Rogers anticipated the move and deflected the man's fall so he landed on the sidewalk of the three-lane bridge.

"I had to fight him not physically but mentally as we came down rung by rung," said Rogers.

City Must Act To Head Off 'Strangulation'

Mayor Percy Scurreh Monday warned that Victoria will have to act fast to save its downtown area from strangulation by traffic.

He hit hard at opposition to the proposed View Street garage and mall project by J. Donald Smith during the opening rally of his campaign for reelection that drew about 150 persons to the Crystal Garden.

He warned that unless a solution is found for the traffic problem, downtown assessments will fall and the only place for the additional tax burden to fall will be on the "back of the residential taxpayers."

"Let nobody attempt to delude you on this score because too many cities already have learned this bitter lesson the hard way—they did not take constructive action in time," he said.

'Not Immune'

"Here in Victoria, time is already running out, but I hope it is not too late for us to profit from the sad experience of many other communities."

"Already the appearance of shopping centres on our outskirts should serve as a warning to all our taxpayers that Victoria is not immune to this wasting traffic disease."

He said the downtown improvement plan was designed to overcome the problem by financing offstreet parking facilities through parking meter revenues "and not a cent of this cost would be placed on the backs of the property owners."

The mayor said the plan was approved by council and ratemakers when Mr. Smith, his opponent for mayor, stepped in.

'Set to Go'

"We were all set to go and then, for reasons best known to himself but which nobody else has been able to understand, my opponent in this election saw fit by legal action to prevent us from carrying out the expressed will of the people."

He said during the past year's delay, several shopping developments have gone up outside the city and interest rates have increased.

"The delay has been almost tragic," he said, "but my opponent must accept responsibility for the delay."

Plans to submit a second by-law this December were knocked out by a government ruling resulting in council's decision to defend the lawsuit.

New Bylaw

"The lawsuit is set down for trial on Jan. 7 and I am hoping that early in the New Year we can present to you a new bylaw for your approval," he said, promising that nothing would be done until ratemakers reaffirmed their support.

The mayor also hit hard at Mr. Smith's bid for a second elected office. Noting that the Social Credit MLA for Victoria in 1953 had stated no person could serve two masters, the mayor said:

"I don't have any divided loyalty such as my opponent has."

He said there was an inherent conflict between office at the provincial and civic levels which had driven Mayor Stephen Juba of Winnipeg, who tried to hold both posts simultaneously, to drop out of the Manitoba legislature after one session.

How Can He?

"You simply can't serve two masters, and my opponent has not shown how he can do it," said the mayor.

"Either the city's interests will suffer or the party will, and because of party discipline I think it would be the city that would suffer."

Beer Baron Walks Out On Parole

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, prohibition-era gangster who schemed for freedom and sued for it, was due to walk out of prison today after serving 25 years for a kidnapping he says was a hoax.

Announcement that the 61-year-old Touhy would be released was made Monday night by warden Joseph Ragen and the state's parole supervisor, T. Edward Austin. Austin said his office had approved Touhy's plans to live under parole with a sister, Mrs. Ethel Alesia, in Chicago. Austin said requirements that Touhy have employment before his release were waived because of his age and because of a back injury which renders him unable to do strenuous work.

The state parole and pardon board's decision Nov. 13 to parole the former Chicago beer baron ended a long series of legal manoeuvres.

Touhy insisted that he was imprisoned for the 1933 kidnapping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, a one-time confidence man, on the basis of perjured testimony.

Reporter Admits Lie About Bribe

NEW YORK (AP)—Reporter Eugene Gleason has admitted to the district attorney's office that he lied when he claimed a high city official tried to bribe him to stop investigating New York's slum clearance program.

Gleason, a reporter for the New York World-Telegram and Sun, told assistant district attorney Alfred J. Scotti Monday that he lied twice about the "bribe"—first in 1956 to fellow reporter Fred J. Cook, and again last Sunday night on a television program.

Cook, also with The World-Telegram and Sun, said on a discussion program that Gleason had told him a high city official offered them $75 to $100 a week each to halt their research on the slum clearance program.

Hogan said Gleason at first stuck to his story and named a city official, but that after four hours of questioning, Gleason signed a six-page statement admitting he lied.

"He used the name of a high and respected public official," Hogan told reporters. "It was a damnable outrage, and it would be most unfair to make it (the name) public."

Hogan indicated there would be no further action in the case.

Gleason told Scotti he lied "because I was exuberant and was carried away."

Gleason, who took all the blame for the incident, has worked for the paper the last four years. He usually did the research for the stories he and Cook prepared. Cook did the writing.

'Gandhi of Sicily' Awarded Lenin Prize

ROME (UPI)—Danilo Dolci, a 34-year-old writer and reformer once called "the Gandhi of Sicily," receives the Lenin Peace Prize of Russia here today.

Dolci was arrested four years ago for leading 200 unemployed Sicilian laborers out to work on the roads in a strike in reverse. He did this to make the point that there was plenty of work available if only the government would authorize it and thus help the poor.

Police said he was a "well-known agitator."

How Do You Say Thanks?

HOW do you go about thanking several hundred people for all they've done for you, pulling you back from where you weren't quite ready to go?

How do you thank folk for their prayers which seem to have been answered?

How do you show how much you appreciate the messages, the notes, the cards, the flowers, the comforts, the telephone calls and all the inquiries you hear about after you have come out of a fog that might have been permanent?

I don't know. It's a little beyond me. But I'd like to try.

I'm not quite sure what happened on the night of Wednesday, Oct. 14. Our swim crowd was down at the Garden, putting on one of the best shows we've done; for the doctors' convention. I wanted our little windup routine to be better than ever.

I'd dressed for it, complete with a wrist watch that doesn't work. And I'd climbed up the ladder to do the fall that in dozens of other shows has sent me into the water.

We'd "improved" the act a little, so I'd teeter at the top of the ladder. We teetered and then maybe my feet slipped off the ladder rung. Anyhow I was falling and I knew it.

Funny, the things that flash through your mind in a drop of 12 feet. It'd take a column to list them.

Then I hit the side of the pool and went into the water. I knew I was hurt. All inside felt like a box of soda crackers somebody had dropped. The pieces seemed to be rattling around.

After the boys had pulled me out things were taken out of my hands. A chain of kindness and thoughtfulness started that I can't begin to describe.

Doctors were by my side and some of the boys who'd been putting on the show. The folk from the Crystal Garden were helping. One of the doctors was quieting me down. The ambulance people handled me as tenderly as a baby.

McKinnon

Then I was in St. Joseph's Hospital and for about two weeks, with a ruptured spleen intervening, I wasn't keeping up too well with what was going on around me. But I do know that nobody could have had better treatment.

When you've been lying on your back in a hospital bed you have time to think about these things. You realize what your doctors did for you, what the nurses and hospital staff have been doing to ease your pain and help your recovery.

It's a sort of misty period. Your recollections aren't sharp, but you know that your wants are being anticipated.

Then you begin to pick up, to take an interest in things.

I'll never get over the impact of more than 800 letters, cards, notes and flowers. I've been reading them over and over since I got home. It certainly makes you feel humble.

There are notes from small children, kids in the beginners' swim class, telling me to get well and come back. There are letters from some of the parents of Y boys who have grown up and have drawn something of value from the Y. There are notes from friends of years ago, boys who camped with the Y group; tumbled in the old outdoor galas, tumbled in the circuses.

The names are precious to me. So are the messages, the expressions of a simple faith, and comforting religion.

I don't think there are enough years left in life to show adequately how much each of them meant to me, and I'm afraid I'll never be able to write a personal thanks to everyone.

I hope some of them will read this and accept it as my effort to show appreciation.

They tell me that I'm to take a convalescent trip with Dot when I'm a little more firmly on my feet. That's another kindness from a wonderful bunch of friends.

So, too, is the way the team at the Y and the volunteers have taken over the work I haven't been able to do for the last few weeks.

I'm one of the lucky ones. Wish I could say thanks the way it should be said. I've tried, and God bless you.

H-Bombs Certain In General War

Dr. Gordon Shrum, professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, believes an all-out world war is unlikely.

"But," he said Monday, "if there is such a war I am convinced it will be fought, if not at the beginning, at the end with hydrogen bombs."

"No major power is likely to surrender to another so long as it has in its arsenal a great stockpile of hydrogen bombs."

"The peace of the world lies not in the shadow of the sword, as the old historians told us, but in the shadow of the hydrogen bomb."

Dr. Shrum was addressing a meeting of 70 B.C. hospital administrators who are taking a four-day course in civil defence at the Empress Hotel.

NO TIME ALLOWED

"Although, as I say, I think an all-out world war is unlikely, I believe we must be ready for nuclear war. And we must remember that it would happen so quickly that we would have little time to prepare for it."

"The missiles launched at us would give us little time," Dr. Shrum continued.

"Even if war never comes, this course in civil defence is still important because we are going to have more and more atomic power plants and more and more isotopes will be used in industry."

"As events have shown, atomic power plants still present something of a hazard. They can create drastic emergencies for which we must be prepared."

U.S. Makes Up With Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday appointed Edward Page, Jr., as U.S. minister to Bulgaria. The decision ends an almost 10-year diplomatic vacuum between the two nations.

Relations between the United States and the small Communist country in the Balkans were broken off in February, 1950.

The United States, through its envoy Donald Heath, was accused of involvement in a plot to overthrow the Communist regime.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Bolls, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoid." Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, $1.00.

Summit Fades Away in Future

LONDON (AP)—Diplomatic circles in London believe the date for the East-West summit conference is getting farther and farther away. But officials in Paris and Bonn say the meeting with Premier Khrushchev still is likely before June.

Diplomatic observers here cite the full schedule of engagements for the world's chief political leaders. And they see signs that Communist China is trying to put the brakes on negotiations between Russia and the West.

There is speculation that the summit won't be reached until 1961, when a new American president will be in the White House.

But West Germany's press chief, Felix von Eckardt, said the prevailing opinion in Bonn is that the meeting will be held in April.

American and French diplomatic sources in Paris say the most logical date appears to fall somewhere between the last week in April and the end of May.

They agree that it can't be set before then. Khrushchev will visit France for two weeks beginning March 15. President de Gaulle will be in Britain April 5-8. Following that, Western discussion of the Khrushchev visit plus time required for technical arrangements could take up another two weeks.

CANADIAN VISIT?

There also is a possibility that de Gaulle will visit the United States and Canada some time in May, thus pushing a summit date back some more.

There is a feeling here that Khrushchev might lose any display of confidence that an early summit meeting can be held.

YOUR HEALTH

Inherited Paralysis

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation. There is a very rare disease that runs through some families. The person will suddenly find himself unable to talk or to move his muscles and he may stay this way for hours or for three or four days.

Then he recovers. As with most familial and inherited diseases, we physicians know little about the mechanism of the illness, and hence have no treatment for it. We can hardly expect to have any for some time. We first must learn more about the chemistry of nerves and muscles.

What is sad is that parents or relatives of many of these patients use up all their funds taking the invalid from one doctor and one clinic to another. Usually, I strongly advise against this because, when an able physician in perhaps a large medical centre says there is no known treatment for a disease—and particularly an inherited disease—the people had better not go on spending all the family's savings on travel and repeated examinations. I hate to be so pessimistic, but these are the facts.

Apparently, in the cases of most of these people, there is a lack of some gene (one of the thousands of microscopic elements in our cells that determine what we are), the gene which would make it impossible for the body to carry out a certain very necessary chemical reaction. To show what I mean: in cases of diabetes, hundreds of thousands of tiny cells in the pancreas (digestive gland which lies back of the stomach) fail to develop well and to function properly. Usually, for some years, these glands work well enough, but then they shrivel up and the person is left without the normal chemical mechanism for using sugar. Eventually, the little glands may largely disappear. When I was a young man in medicine, before 1923, all children with diabetes soon wasted away and died. And then that miraculous substance, insulin, was made from the pancreas of animals, and the children lived and grew up.

Now, our chemists are preparing for us one new drug after another such as older diabetics can take by mouth. In the same way, when enough research is done on the chemistry of muscle, we probably will have at our disposal chemicals which will enable persons with chronic paralyses of several types to get up out of their beds and to stay well. Any day the discovery will come.

In the meantime, young men and women who know that, in their families, there runs a tendency to hereditary paralyses—when they are thinking of marriage—should do everything they can to find out if the same tendency runs in the family of the person they are thinking of marrying. Then they can know that the chances are that if they have several children, some of them will be paralyzed and will drag out a miserable existence.

As I write this, in comes a woman who is terribly unhappy because three of her five children are not growing up right; one is mentally retarded; one has mild fits and one is incorrigible at home and at school. As she says: "I know my family was full of queer, mentally defective people, but when I married, my beau and his family concealed from me the fact that their tribe was full of alcoholics and men who never worked. I think if I had known that, I would have had sense enough not to marry him. I grew up on a ranch where my father was proud of his prize cattle; and I know how careful he was to breed only from the best stock. I didn't breed from good stock, and now I am paying with daily sorrow and suffering for my unwisdom." Isn't it strange that on our farms we are so careful to breed only from good stock, while when we marry, we pay no attention to this factor. When many a young woman chooses the father of her children almost anyone who proposes will do!

'Economic Surge' Ahead for B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Bonner told a constituency meeting here Monday night British Columbia is poised for "a great economic surge" in the 1960s.

He said the state of province's economy will depend on the development of a major source of hydro electric power and the continued flow of capital, mainly from the U.S.

Mr. Bonner, who doubles as minister of trade and industry, said the next decade will see development of either the Peace or Columbia Rivers as sources of hydro-electricity and railway extensions built into the Chilcotins and north to the Alaska Panhandle, the Yukon and the interior of Alaska.

He said new capital will come into B.C. at the rate of $1,000,000,000 a year.

One of the most important developments would be a decision to build a railway extension to Pine Point in Northwest Territories via Grimshaw, Alta., instead of Waterways, Alta.

A leading economist also had an encouraging forecast for B.C.

Dr. O. J. Firestone, economic adviser with the department of trade and commerce, told a board of trade panel here Monday night B.C. can expect important developments in the expansion of natural gas and power utilities during 1960.

BUSINESS VIEWS

BCE Mortgage Plan 'Possible' Here

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Mortgage money is tighter than a Scot's purse but there is still some hope for persons who wish to build and need a few dollars to make their dreams come true.

A spokesman for the B.C. Electric in Victoria says his company is "considering" a mortgage assistance plan for homeowners who install gas heating equipment.

In Vancouver the company is offering second mortgages of up to $1,400 at seven per cent.

BCE's decision to enter the second mortgage field was "forced" it said by the entrance (in September) of Imperial Oil into the second mortgage business in B.C.

Actually Imperial had been making second mortgage money ($1,200 at six per cent over seven years) available for some time in Ontario and the Maritimes.

With the advent of natural gas into B.C. and the heavy promotion of its use by the B.C. Imperial extended its plan to B.C. homeowners in an attempt to "get its share" of the heating business.

Under the plan the homeowner contracts to purchase oil or gas for the life of the mortgage. Both companies assume that a homeowner once helped financially will not leave them after the mortgage repayment period elapses although he is free to do so.

Without divulging figures on the number of mortgages approved — "this is a competitive situation," said an Imperial Oil spokesman, "and we don't want our competition to know exactly how we are progressing." The spokesman said Imperial is "quite satisfied" that it is getting its share of the business.

ANNOYED

Support for this comes from the fact that when the Imperial Oil president John White announced the plan was available in British Columbia, BCE's Dal Grauer was more than slightly annoyed.

Mr. Grauer, it is said, was so exasperated he put in a direct call to Mr. White in Toronto. The exact conversation isn't known but the text went something like this: "What's the big idea?"

Insiders say Mr. White's answer was direct and succinct. In effect he is said to have replied: "Imperial is engaged in the business of selling oil. You are a competitor and we are competing with you."

End of conversation.

People who bought new Edsels and then read with considerable dismay that Ford no longer intended to manufacture them received some balm the other day.

Noticing that the market value of Edsels fell as much as $400 on the used car market, Ford hastily said it would give purchasers of 1960 Edsels a $300 certificate applicable to the purchase of any of Ford of Canada's products. The certificate is non-transferable.

Semi-annual dinner of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange will be held at the Pacific Club, Wednesday, at 6:30 p.m. Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan will speak on "North of 54".

B.C. Logging Firms Request Tax Relief

British Columbia Loggers' and Truck Loggers' Associations say higher levies against their industry are liable to cost E.C. its foreign markets.

The two groups presented a joint brief to the B.C. cabinet Monday asking tax relief.

They said the industry here competes with the industry in Oregon. Yet in B.C. under new overweigh fees and other licensing regulations, a truck hauling a certain load over a certain distance would pay $9,675 per year to the province. Under the same circumstances in Oregon, the cost is $1,678, the brief said.

"The foregoing comparison is emphasized because the forests of the state of Oregon provide the greatest competition which must be met by our forest industries in American markets, to which in 1948, 65 per cent of the wood and wood products exported from B.C. were destined," it was added.

The loggers asked that overweight fees be placed on a monthly basis, that roads used primarily for access to logging operations be reclassified to permit larger loads in hauling logs, and that charges for crossing highways be completely eliminated.

Later Monday, Transport Minister Liye Wicks in a Vancouver radio address, however, assured the public commercial vehicles will pay a fair share of highway costs.

He said it costs more to build highways and roads to carry logging trucks and other commercial vehicles, whether or not the trucks damage them, "so why should you pay the extra shot?" he asked his listeners. "It's about time the public interest came first."

Car Sales In Province Take Upswing

Judging by retail sales in B.C., times are better in 1959 than they were in 1958.

And the most lucrative business to be in appears to be car sales.

Figures released Monday by Trade Minister Robert Bonner show that in the first eight months this year, retail sales are up 4.5 per cent over the same period in 1958. To August 31 they totalled $1,090,600,000.

Motor vehicle sales registered the highest volume for all trade except in January. August sales reached $26,413,000 — up 11 per cent over August, 1958, and up 8.9 per cent over the first eight months of last year.

Forty per cent of the total increase in the retail sales volume was attributed to the sales of cars.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

Veronica Briton, 389 Lampson, $25 for driving without a licence.

Marjorie Doreen McDonald, 417 Campbell, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Robert Kenneth Hutton, 325 Michigan, and Robert Ernest Porter, 467 Lampson, $40 and licence suspension each for careless driving.

David Ward Sherk, 520 Craigflower, $40 and remanded for consideration of driver's licence suspension, for careless driving.

Housewife to Run

CAMPBELL RIVER—Housewife Mrs. June Bootle is the latest candidate for the Dec. 17 municipal elections.

Other candidates are Commissioner Jack Lee, Commissioner R. D. Jamieson, village chairman J. D. Bunday, Barnard Fox and Harry Eastwood.

Grain Production At All-Time High

LONDON (Reuters) — A bumper wheat harvest boosted world production of grain in 1958-59 to a record total of 496,000,000 tons, says the annual grain crops review of the Commonwealth economic committee.

Production of corn also continued to rise and rice, oats and barley were recovering, the review adds.

The U.S. had a record wheat harvest while Australia had good harvests of both wheat and coarse grain. India had a good rice crop and Commonwealth grain generally showed some recovery after a fall the previous season.

The survey does not cover the Communist world. A significant part of the expansion in grain production was in exporting countries but the volume of trade showed no proportionate increase. This was reflected in accumulating surpluses.

The record volume of exports of wheat and barley in 1956 was not maintained. Shipments of rice also fell but exports of corn showed an upward trend.

With ample supplies of grain available, the downward trend of world prices continued during 1957-58, average seasonal prices for most grains being the lowest since the Second World War.

'More Services On Less Taxes'

300 View Royal Residents Hear From Pro-Incorporation Forces

View Royal residents were told Monday they would benefit economically and community problems would get faster attention if their unorganized district was incorporated into a village municipality.

A. W. Bradfield, chairman of the View Royal pro-incorporation committee, estimated that village expenditures could be met by a five mill general tax rate as compared with the present 12.17 mills.

"A study shows that this is feasible, but it might be desirable to keep the tax rate at the present level and accumulate reserves for emergencies and local improvements when required," he said.

"But one thing is certain," he added, "As a village we could have all our present services, plus garbage collection, for less taxation than at present."

More than 300 people jammed the community hall to hear the pros and cons on village incorporation.

Property owners will go to the polls on Thursday to decide whether to incorporate as a village under the Municipal Act.

Sixty per cent of the property owners will have to vote in favor of incorporation to make village status possible.

Gov't to Maintain Main Highway

The district takes in about 1,050 acres with about 1,700 home owners.

Outlining the case for incorporation at the meeting sponsored by the View Royal Community Association were R. Stark, president of the association; Jack Flower, past president, and Mr. Bradfield.

J. D. Baird, supervisor of municipalities for British Columbia, answered questions pertaining to the Municipal Act.

Opponents of incorporation were not represented on the public platform, but through-out the evening plied those in favor of a village status with questions.

Here are some of the questions and answers:

Who would maintain the main highway through View Royal?

Estimated $43,000 First Budget

Mr. Bradfield was questioned at length on his estimates for operating a village. He allowed $10,000 for administration; $2,000 for office space and equipment; $18,000 for public works; $5,000 for fire protection; $6,000 for garbage; $400 civil defence; $2,000 contingencies.

The estimated budget amounted to $43,400. He explained the $10,000 expenditure for administration included salaries for a clerk and stenographer. This would be the only staff required.

This, as well as the $18,000 for public works could be reduced," he said. "But we estimated high to be on the safe side. We feel that these expenditures could be reduced considerably."

Mr. Bradfield said the estimated revenue would include a provincial grant of $16 per person. It would total $28,192, which would cover a good portion of village expenditures.

In addition, he said, the village would receive $500 from power and telephone utilities; $400 from business and trade licences; $500 from inspection fees, and $13,808 from general taxation.

'CAN'T COMPARE VIEW ROYAL WITH SIDNEY'

Tax Hike Feared by Chief

Strong attack against village incorporation was launched Monday by A. E. Beasley, chief of the View Royal volunteer fire department.

"It is impossible to give View Royal more services for the same low taxes we are now paying under the provincial government," he said in a press release.

The community votes Thursday in a government-supervised plebiscite to decide whether or not the unorganized territory will be incorporated as a village.

Mr. Beasley, a building contractor, said if View Royal incorporates as a village it will lose the free services of the provincial highways department in clearing snow from side roads.

FIRE LOSS

"Fire hazards are high when the weather is cold and residents are stoking furnaces heavily," he said. "Delay caused by snow on the roads could mean a heavy fire loss for someone and extra hazard for our volunteer firemen."

He said fire department costs also will increase as the district grows.

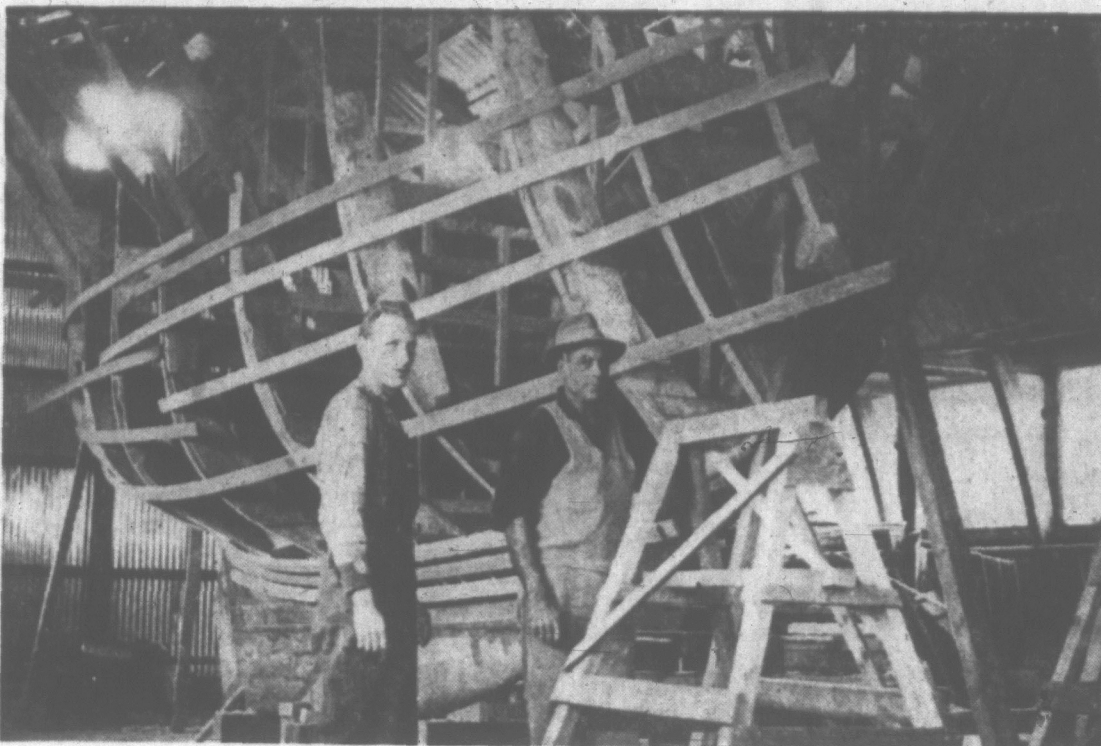

Government grants to a village would not be new grants as suggested but would only be continuation of "the extra money that the government has been expending in this district annually."

He said current costs would be increased by new administrative costs for salaries, equipment and other items if the area became a village.

The village would have to borrow $50,000, to operate during its first six months before tax collections began producing revenue when "this is absolutely the worst time to finance a deal like this."

He said road maintenance would require more than the proposed single truck and operator. Incorporation inevitably would increase taxes.

"We have very few business properties to provide revenue for extra expenditures," he said. "We have been compared to Sidney as a village, but as far as I can see Sidney has many more business properties to add to their revenue."

Motorist Avoided Summons for Month

DUNCAN—Motorist Raymond Douglas Wright was not granted time to pay a $25 fine after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a driver's licence before Magistrate A. C. Sutton in Duncan court Monday.

The RCMP constable acting for the crown told the court Wright had "deliberately avoided being served with a summons" for over a month.

Wright was served Nov. 18 after being checked by RCMP Aug. 4 when he tried to stop a car from passing his vehicle on the Trans-Canada Highway eight miles south of Duncan.

"I tried to stop him from passing me because it was on a dangerous curve," Wright explained.

He told the court his driver's licence expired May 2.

Wright was refused time to pay his fine.

Dredging Set For Channel

PENDER ISLAND—The channel separating North and South Pender Islands will be dredged to provide six feet of water over its 60-foot width, the chamber of commerce here has advised.

Cost of the project, to make the channel safer and more attractive to the yachting public, has been included in federal estimates for 1960-61.

The channel hasn't been dredged since it was cut in 1902.

GOV'T WHARF TO CLOSE NOVEMBER 30

During the closure mariners are requested to exercise caution when navigating in the vicinity.

The plan would come into effect in 1962 with the installation of automatic exchanges in all four communities.

BOTH VICTORIANS

Impaired Drivers Pay $200 Fines

DUNCAN—A truck driver and a logging company construction foreman each were fined $200 when they pleaded guilty to impaired driving here during the week-end.

Both men were from Victoria.

Alexander McMillan, 48, was found slumped over the wheel of his car Sunday with keys in the ignition and lights on.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton said because McMillan wasn't actually driving, he could drive on the job but not for pleasure.

The magistrate suspended the licence of Alvar Kallberg, 55, for 60 days. The logger failed to make a turn on Government and smashed into a telephone pole.

DUNCAN—Three Victoria juveniles, who pleaded guilty to stealing a car to drive home, were remanded in custody for sentence to Friday to allow preparation of probation reports.

One 16-year-old admitted five previous court appearances; another, aged 16, also had five, and the third, a 17-year-old, had one.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton warned the youths that their case could have been taken out of juvenile court and handled in police court and sentences could range up to 10 years.

DUNCAN—A 16-year-old Cowichan Indian who hit a telephone pole and did $850 damage to his car told court his brakes failed, despite police evidence of skid marks.

The youth was fined $38.

He had purchased the car a week before.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The usually cheerful and smiling Dick Clark is depressed, probably for the first time since he hit it big.

He tells Broadway friends that prior to ABC's declaration of faith in him he'd given affidavits to the network swearing to his innocence of any "payola" irregularities.

But he's aware that because of his success and big organization he may yet be asked to explain all the payola practices in the music racket—he may find himself, because of his fame, the "star," the "headliner," of the payola probe.

The quizzers will ask: Do singers kick back their TV pay to disc jockeys who promote their records? Are singers forced to "give up pieces" of themselves? Do song writers and publishers give up slices of their royalties or plugs? What about "freebies"—free records (thousands of them) that are given in return for plugs?

The payola's very, very old. Song writers used to put Al Jolson's name on a song (cutting him in on it) in return for his singing it and making it a hit. Composers would greet Jolson with a "lead sheet" and say: "Hey, Jolie, here's a song you just wrote."

George Gobel winged in to harangue his sponsors' sales managers—and incidentally dined at Danny's Hideaway where he declared that spooky old Alice should get contact lenses. "She won't wear glasses, 'cause she thinks she's too good looking," George said. "So she looks at a guy and whispers to me, 'Who is that?'" Now I can see perfectly—I don't need glasses or contact lenses. I just can't remember his name.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Jackie Gleason was treated for a cold backstage at "Take Me Along"... Marion Brando took France Nuyen to Birdland... Manager Buddy Allen's ailing comes Allen and Rossi for breach of contract... Friends of a famous athlete are worried about his frequent blackouts... Paulette Goddard bought some of the Marquesa de Portago's furniture at auction.

Ingerman Johansson dated Maria Benna, a Roman import, gave her a friendship ring... Eddie Fisher and Liz looked at a plush E. 72nd St. apartment... Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward start shooting "From the Terrace" here Nov. 25... Benito Mussolini's piano-playing son Romano is touring Europe as singer Caterina Valente's accompanist... June Havoc's studying Elizabethan verse at the Shakespeare Festival. Academy.

Famed gambler Nick the Greek is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, L.A.... George Englund—who formerly dated Joan Collins—is around with May Britt... Tiffany's Christmas gift brochure lists a $500,000 diamond. (That includes tax and gift wrapping, of course)... Gary Crosby will do the film "The Alaskans" with John Wayne... Tommy Manville's most recent ex-wife, Pat Gaston, was at the Harwyn with Tony Berns of the "21" restaurant clan.

EARL'S PEARLS: The average husband earns just enough to keep his wife out of jail.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Some western towns still have local prohibition. In fact, some are so dry they sell Dean Martin records under the counter.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's a toss-up right now which the public has less faith in—television or crabs.

There's a new Russian TV quiz. First prize is a map of the unguarded spots along the border. That's earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other incentive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngsters who ask the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Linda Blevins, age 12, of Philadelphia, Penna., for her question:

Does the male seahorse really bear the young?

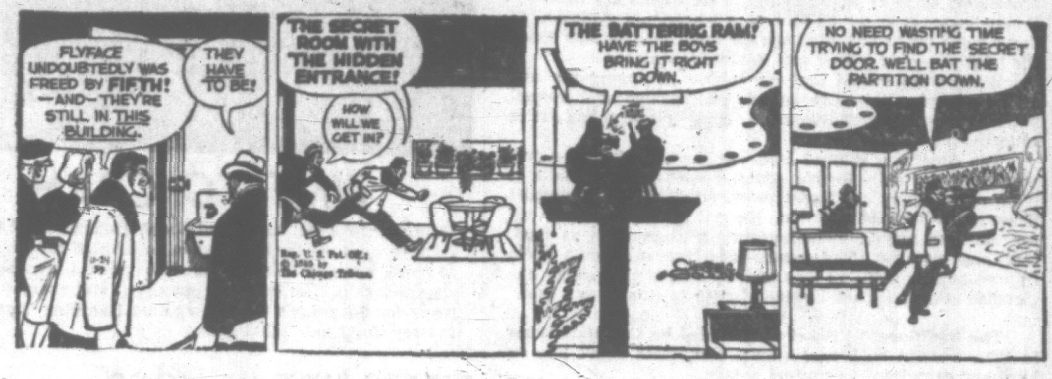

Mrs. Seahorse lays the eggs, but she puts them into a pouch on Mr. Seahorse's tummy. There they nestle, costly sealed from harm, until the babies are ready to cope with their watery world. Then, one by one, they wriggle out of father's brood pouch and, while this is going on, it looks for all the world as though he were giving birth to a litter of midget ponies.

The seahorse is a creature of many, what weedy waters. One variety gets as far north as Cape Cod, but not in great numbers. He is the Western Atlantic seahorse, usually about four inches long though specimens of seven and a half inches have been found. A small variety, two inches long, lives off the shores of Florida. A whopping variety, often a foot long, lives off southern California as far south as Peru. Almost 50 other kinds of seahorse live in various warm shallow waters of the world.

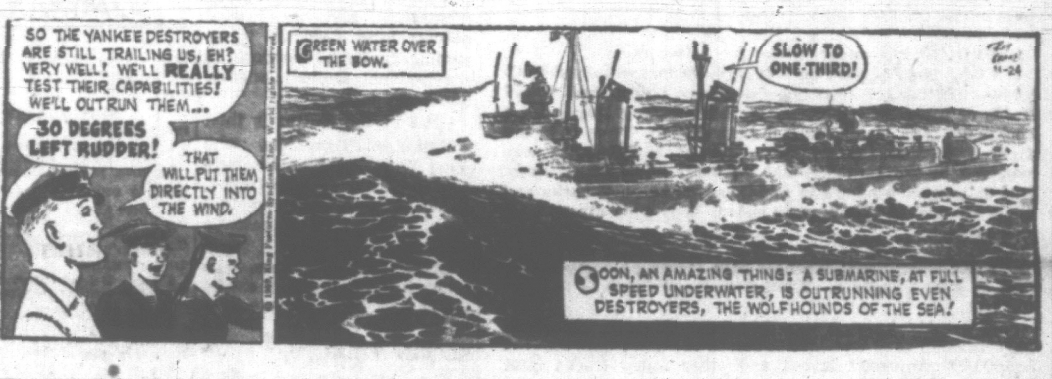

The body of a seahorse is encased in jointed armor, though he also has an internal skeleton. Half of his body is prehensile tail, able to grasp and wind around seaweeds and branches of coral. His horsy snout ends in a tiny round mouth. His favorite food is small sea crustaceans, which is strange, considering he has no teeth to chop their crunchy shells. He swallows them whole, shells and all. The graceful little fellow seems to glide through the water with stately dignity. Actually, he is not gliding at all, but swimming with all his might. He swims by fanning small, gauzy fins, perhaps at the rate of 35 vibrations a second. The fins are so small that, even vibrating at this speed, they can move his body only very, very slowly through the water.

No Family Fuss for Mama
The Western Atlantic seahorses do their courting in spring or early summer. Mrs. Seahorse grows an ovipositor, a tube with which she can deposit her eggs into papa's brood pouch. When the eggs are properly placed, perhaps 200 of them, off goes mama on her merry way with no family cares on her mind at all. The brood pouch is sealed and the eggs are incubated for 45 days. Safely inside, they are supplied with oxygen

OTTAWA (UPI)—Placement-kicker John Diefenbaker, his first attempt "blocked" in 1957, will take another swipe at the pigskin at Saturday's Grey Cup game in Toronto.

The Prime Minister will perform the honorary kickoff before the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers meet for the national championship at the Canadian National Exhibition Stadium.

The Diefenbaker Grey Cup average is a poor five yards. His 1957 kick went only that far before being blocked by a crowd of photographers and officials.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK (NEA)—By comparison with the uproar occasioned by news that running horse tracks are considering an increase in the $2 minimum wager, the explosion of the H-bomb was a dull thud and the anguished shrieks about the television quiz fixes a soft, contented whisper.

When word leaked that the subject of upping the cost of the cheapest licence to gamble purchasable at a mutual window was under advisement, horse players let out a collective screech.

The American Way of Life was threatened by the proposal and the daily double addict wasn't going to take it lying down. Only the 5-cent candy bar, and the $2 mutual ticket had withstood inflation. Everything else has gone up for the horse player, including such non-essentials as food, rent and clothing. The punter with the run down heels figured he was going to look awfully silly with a candy bar clutched in his hot hand instead of a ticket on a 50 to 1 shot.

The traditional $2 ticket was created by Col. Matt Winn in 1911, when a buck was a buck and states didn't bite so hard and deep into the mutual money.

In the interest of fairness, this department has conducted an impartial poll, presenting the arguments of proponents of the increased minimum wager and the reactions of various dedicated $2 bettors. The results are presented so that the reader can form his own opinion on this vital question.

PRO: Everything's gone up at least 200 per cent since 1940, practically the last year we had a sane economy.

CON: All the more reason for retaining the $2 mutual, especially for the married man with a flock of kids. The average American housewife is so improvident she'll buy milk and bread when there's hardly enough in the family till for a $5 bet.

PRO: Purses and stakes have jumped from $15,911,167 in 1940 to $72,354,812 last year—an increase of 457 per cent.

CON: The $2 bettor can't eat the kind of stakes they pass out at the race track.

PRO: Bigger purses make for better races.

CON: The $2 bettor doesn't care—in fact usually doesn't know—whether a race is between Sword Dancer and Round Table or a couple of beetles. He'll bet on anything, even a cockroach race, if you make it easy enough. Proof is in the figures for last year when a total of $3,036,654,310 was wagered in the United States on horse races of all sorts. Put $2 mutual windows in minor league baseball parks and their attendance troubles are ended. Why they even bet on dog races.

PRO: Operational expenses have gone up along with the cost of everything else. Tracks need more income to meet the rise.

CON: My heart bleeds for them. They must be impoverished or they wouldn't be forced to build plants like the $33,000,000 Aqueduct layout and other fancy tracks built since World War II.

PRO: Two dollars today is worth 75 cents by 1940 standards, so the bettor actually wouldn't be risking any more, in purchasing power, with a $5 bet today than he was with a $2 wager 19 years ago.

CON: The $5 minimum would take betting out of the petty cash class and make it big business. With a $5 minimum it wouldn't be possible to get to the track by robbing the kiddies' piggy bank.

PRO: Many people are ashamed to be seen patronizing the $2 window.

CON: They should be proud. Being seen there is proof that they're too smart to bet more. Just let us alone and let us go broke $2 at a time.

Spectacular Smash Delays Try at Record

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Band leader Guy Lombardo and the designer and driver of his jet-propelled hydroplane Tempo Alcoa still aim to shoot for a new world record despite a near-disastrous accident Monday.

The aluminum craft, with Les Staudacher at the controls, skimmed into the beach at Pyramid Lake near here, struck a rock and soared 200 feet before crashing on the sand.

Staudacher, 47, emerged badly bruised but claiming he had topped the world record of 260.35 miles an hour on three runs before the crash. Lombardo skinned his leg when he tripped while running toward the crash scene.

Except for its right sponson—a pontoon-like float—the hydroplane appeared undamaged. However, Staudacher said it would be returned to Bay City, Mich., for repairs before another record try at Pyramid Lake next year.

Staudacher said that after three runs, in which he hit 260 miles an hour each time, he cut the fuel switch when he hit choppy water. Instead of stopping, the engine kept going. Staudacher skidded into the beach at about 150 miles an hour, the right sponson hitting a rock. The craft rose about 20 feet and kept sailing through the air. A safety belt held the driver in the 31½-foot craft.

The Tempo Alcoa, powered by an Allison jet engine with a thrust of 5,600 pounds, has no directional controls above 90 miles an hour. It is designed to better the record established earlier this year in England by Donald Campbell.

'Coop' Lines Up With Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City Athletics' coaching staff was completed Monday with the addition of former big league catcher Walker Cooper.

Previous appointments by Bob Elliott, newly-signed manager for the club, were Don Heffner and Freddie Fitzsimmons.

Cooper started his major league playing career in 1940 with St. Louis Cardinals and completed it with them in 1957 after terms with the Giants, Reds, Braves, Pirates and Cubs.

He managed Indianapolis of the American Association the last two seasons.

BESMANOFF SIGNS CLEVELAND (AP)—Heavyweights Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and Willie Besmanoff of Milwaukee have signed for a 10-round bout Dec. 9.

TURF CINDERELLA NEW YORK (UPI)—Stylish, once sold for $1,500 in a claiming race, became perhaps the greatest "Cinderella horse" in turf history by winning purses totalling $918,485 during his career.

TIME TO CRAM

Winnipeg fans feel coach Bud Grant graduated and earned right to wear mortar board when he directed Blue Bombers to third straight Western Interprovincial Union Football championship. The Professor, however, still wants to study plays for Saturday's big test against Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Grey Cup final. (CP Photo.)

RIDERS NOT IN MOOD

Trimble Doesn't Want Handouts

TORONTO (CP)—With the Grey Cup only four days away, a certain coolness between East and West is understandable.

This year there's a new element. The easterners are playing it a bit cool among themselves and a regional playoff loser suddenly is assuming major proportions in the national football extravaganza.

Crux of the matter is this: Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers here Saturday for the trophy, know little—or pretend to—about the western representatives.

Ottawa Rough Riders, who aren't meeting anybody except the rest of the spectators, may know plenty.

SECRET FILES

The Riders are said to have a fat scouting file on the Bombers prepared by George Terlap before he was dropped late in the Western Interprovincial Football Union season by Saskatchewan Roughriders and joined Ottawa as assistant coach.

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble would dearly love to get his hands on it, but there's a delicate situation involved. It stems from an affair Saturday in Hamilton wherein the T-cats, down 12 points, recovered to smash the Riders 21-7 and take the Big Four's two-game, total-points final 26-24.

"I don't want to ask them for it," Trimble said Monday night. "We'd like them to offer it to us first. Of course, they're probably not in the mood today."

ASK NICELY

He was right. Ottawa coach Frank Clair replied he had received no request from Hamilton and "if they want it, they should ask for it."

Trimble said he would do just that if Ottawa didn't make the first move. And what would the Riders' reaction be?

"No comment," said Clair. To complete the total-stranger atmosphere, coach Bud Grant led his Bombers into Toronto Monday and professed not to know much about Hamilton either.

Grant, however, planned to let at the Hamilton scouting reports right away. That's what we're down here early for."

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Reds will operate seven farm clubs during the 1960 baseball season, including Seattle, of the Pacific Coast League, and Havana, of the International League.

TWIN CITIES IN CENTRE

Grid Powers Line Up for Tug o' War

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The new American Football League made a bold bid for survival Monday by drafting the top college stars in the United States. The behind-the-scenes manoeuvring turned Minneapolis-St. Paul into a battleground between the AFL and the National League.

Declaring flatly that an American League team will be operating here next season despite reports that the door is open to a twin-cities franchise in the NFL, AFL owners named players they hope will form the hard core of their 1960 rosters.

All are subject to the NFL's own draft next week. If the AFL is serious about operating in 1960—and all the owners insist it is—a bidding war is certain.

In what was described as a move to give each club a chance to develop a nucleus and "equalize talent in the league," selectors filled all 11

DEMOTION IRKS WORSLEY ...

'TOO MANY CHEAP GOALS'

'Don't Blame Me' Says Gump

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lorne (Gump) Worsley, the New York Rangers' fun-loving goalie, was bitter today over his demotion to Springfield of the American League.

"I'm leaving for Springfield today and I don't care if they (the Rangers) leave me there," Worsley said. "I don't want to move again—at least not this season."

"This moving around all the time is no joke."

General manager Muzz Patrick announced Monday that the Rangers were calling up Marcel Paille from Springfield to replace Worsley because "Gump has looked very nervous" in recent games.

Patrick revealed that Alf Pike, the Rangers' new coach, was of the opinion that Worsley's own teammates felt Gump was costing them an average of a goal a game.

"Gump has been failing to the ice more than ever," Patrick added. "The other teams have been making too many cheap goals... goals I'm sure wouldn't be made against Paille."

However, Worsley refused to shoulder all the blame for the Blues' poor early-season showing.

"I still feel I belong with this club," the 30-year-old net-minder declared. "It's not all my fault because we couldn't get going this season."

Worsley allowed 72 goals—an average of 3.80 a game—while the Rangers won only three of their first 19 contests.

Paille will be in the nets Wednesday when the Rangers entertain Boston Bruins.

Pats Save Best Performance For Season's Largest Crowd

Shaking off the effects of a poor start, Pattersons are beginning to find their feet around the Commercial Hockey League.

The construction crew saved its best effort for the largest crowd of the season at Memorial Arena. Some 1,425 "sidewalk superintendents" turned out Monday to see the Pats grab a share of second by defeating Vics 4-3 on a last-minute goal by Orr Coulter.

In the nightcap, unbeaten Navy came up with a mediocre performance but still managed to extend their lead by trampling Army 7-1.

PENALTY HURTS

Pattersons' winning goal, scored with only 12 seconds remaining, came with Vics' Doug Bamforth sitting out a penalty.

Bryan Erb, Jack Milburn and Taylor scored other Patterson goals while John Makowski, with two, and Ron Restall handled goal-getting honors for Vics.

A tight-checking chore by Army threw the Sailors off-balance for two periods, but four unanswered goals in the last period turned the second game into a rout.

Neil Standley and Johnny Bond each scored twice for Navy while Cliff Uhren, Duff Gray and McLeod connected for singletons. Carl Kispira spoiled Pat Cain's shutout hopes by firing Army's only goal in the early minutes of the second period.

Loose Balls Set Up Score In Wet Game

Loose balls and one convert accounted for the only scoring in a hard-fought, muddy rugby game at Royal Roads Monday.

Mount Newton High School squeaked by the service college "B" team 5-3 in a game that featured forward play with little accomplished by either three-quarter line.

Mount Newton's try came when Teard dived on a loose ball after a scrum on the Roads goal line and Jordan made the convert.

The cadets replied with an unconverted try when Bill Motyka followed up an unsuccessful penalty kick and fell on the ball behind the high school line.

Soviet Cagers Land in States

NEW YORK (AP)—The Russian men's and women's basketball teams that will play a series of exhibitions in the United States arrived by plane Monday.

Included in the group was Jan Krumlinsh—a 29-year-old giant who played on the 1956 Soviet Olympic team. He is seven-foot-three-inches and weighs 319 pounds.

choice of a franchise in either league. Johnson has been the local negotiator with the NFL. He quoted the text of the telegram he received a few days ago. It said:

NEW YORK (AP)—A "shocked and dismayed" Cus D'Amato expects to get back through legal action his licence to manage and second fighters in New York state.

If that isn't successful, the National Boxing Association offers him a glimmer of hope he may be able to manage within its jurisdiction. That would give him most of the United States in which to operate as manager of former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson if champion Ingemar Johansson of Sweden consents to meet Patterson in a title fight outside of New York.

"I have a legal contract for the return bout and I intend to fulfill this obligation," D'Amato said Monday night.

MAY APPEAL

D'Amato, whose licence was revoked Monday by the New York State Athletic Commission, indicated in a statement that his first move may be court action to upset the commission's ruling.

The revocation of D'Amato's licence further clouded the already befogged heavyweight title picture as it pertains to a rematch between Patterson and Johansson.

Anthony Macaroni, NBA president, said in Providence, R.I., that his organization temporarily would uphold the ban but that the NBA is leaving the door open for D'Amato to be heard by the association's grievance committee.

Macaroni charged the New York commission with mishandling the case and took exception to three charges levelled against D'Amato.

COULDN'T COME

He said the charge D'Amato failed to appear at a Sept. 14 commission hearing was justified as D'Amato was out of the country. Also, the commission had ample time before the June 25 fight to take action on D'Amato's alleged participation as an undercover manager and his attempt to maintain control of the title by hand-picking managers of challengers.

Patterson has no manager.

'CALL ME MADAM!

Things were never like this in our high schools! But in Iowa they have certified Mrs. Carol Ziegler as temporary referee. Iowa's 1957 "Queen of the Furrow," Mrs. Ziegler will be first woman to work game in organized basketball if she gets assignment from Iowa High School Athletic Association.

If Courts Won't Help, D'Amato Will Try NBA

To further complicate matters, Rosensohn Enterprises Incorporated, which holds the return bout contract, previously had its New York licence revoked.

Bill Rosensohn, still holder of one-third interest in the promoting organization, had his matchmaker's licence suspended Monday for three years.

In Geneva, Johansson reiterated his desire to give Patterson the first chance at the title. The champion obviously was elated when told that commissioner Julius Helfand had said Johansson could pick up his $152,000 purse for the June fight at any time. The purse is being held in escrow by the New York commission.

CANUCKS HERE WEDNESDAY

Cats in No Rush To Take Top Slot

Hal Laycoe doesn't particularly care if Victoria Cougars grab the Western League's top spot by Christmas time, or sooner.

"They don't give any awards for being in first place at Christmas," he said.

"But I want to be there (in first) on March 20!"

That's when the schedule ends and Cougars, now resting in second, can accomplish the task by simply following Laycoe's orders.

"Peck away at that nine-point Vancouver lead."

Cougars hope to trim two points off Canucks' margin when the teams meet Wednesday night in Memorial Arena, starting at 8:30.

LOOK WHO'S SHINING!

The leaders, who have lost only five games in 22 including a pair to Victoria, move into the Arena with three one-time Cougars showing the way in team scoring.

Canucks' top snipers are Edward Dorohoy, Colin Kilburn and Bruce Carmichael.

Bill MacFarland of Seattle has vaulted his way into the top three of his teammates hold down the next three places in the individual scoring race.

MacFarland scored two goals and added six assists in the last week to bring his point total this season to 32 on 13 goals and 19 assists.

Marc Boileau and Rudy Filion of Seattle hold down second place with 31 points each.

Veteran Guyle Fielder and Dorohoy share fourth place with 29 points.

Victoria's top sniper is Art Jones, who moved into eighth place with 13 goals and 11 assists. Four of Jones' goals have been game-winners, giving him the lead in that department.

Bus Fumes Gas Choristers

STILLWATER, (Okla. AP)—Carbon monoxide fumes disrupted a choral festival and sent some 500 high school students to hospitals and first-aid stations Monday night.

Many were ill with carbon monoxide poisoning. Others thought they were and had to be treated for hysteria. But none was considered even seriously ill.

The youngsters were part of more than 5,400 Oklahoma high school singers from 109 schools taking part in the eighth annual Thanksgiving songfest at Oklahoma State University. Another 3,000 or so persons filled the hall.

BUS FUMES

About 200 school and charter buses were parked around the building, and about half way through the performance many drivers started the engines to warm the vehicles before starting the journey home.

Weldon Barnes, university public relations officer, said the fumes apparently were drawn into the hall by air intake fans.

Harshest hit were the soprano and alto sections in the balcony at the south end. Girls outnumbered boys at hospitals and aid stations about 10 to one.

CLINIC TO AID HANDICAPPED Speech, Hearing Help Provided

Polio victims and other disabled persons and children with speech and hearing problems can now receive comprehensive treatment in Victoria.

Monday marked the official opening of the Victoria joint office of the B.C. Foundation for Child Care, Polio and Child Care and the B.C. Society for Crippled Children and the Speech Clinic sponsored by the foundation.

Health Minister Eric Martin officially opened the joint office and clinic at 470 Gorge Road East and, in the absence of John B. Priestley (chairman of the joint management committee), Robert Harvey, vice-chairman, gave the introductory speech.

WORK CO-ORDINATED

Mr. Harvey said formation of the joint committee would result in a closer working relationship.

Persons with disabilities, either congenital or acquired and ineligible for assistance elsewhere, will receive medical care, orthopedic treatment, physical and speech therapy, transportation and direct financial assistance where required.

Social assistance is being provided for several polio patients in Queen Alexandra Salarium.

At the speech clinic for children up to 16 years with speech or hearing defects, Mrs. Alexander Vidal will give therapy treatment.

Children with hearing defects will be trained in the use of hearing aids and lip reading, while their parents will also receive special counselling.

BUSES PROVIDED

Under the joint management plan, Bunny Buses provided by the B.C. Society for Crippled Children will transport children to and from the speech clinic.

The clinic with the Kinsmen mobile hearing unit are part of the speech and hearing program for B.C. children operated jointly by the foundation and the health centre for children in Vancouver.

FIREMAN, BOY DIE IN BLAST

DETROIT (AP)—A fireman and a 12-year-old boy were killed and 11 firemen were injured today when a two-story frame house burst apart in an explosion touched off by a fire.

The blast flung more than a score of policemen and firemen to the ground.

Firemen donned gas masks to fight a basement blaze and were entering the house when the explosion occurred.

Kinsmen Planning Boat Show

Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen Club already has begun planning for its second annual boat show, to be held in Victoria Curling Rink April 7, 8 and 9.

Fearing that all available space will be taken and that many possible exhibitors might be disappointed, the club is trying to secure use of a "big top" circus tent, which would give an additional 5,000 square feet of covered display area on the lot beside the curling rink.

Club members Alf Mendels, show co-ordinator, and Charles Hewitt, chairman, will attend the upcoming Seattle boat show to seek new ideas and open negotiations to have an unlimited racing hydroplane—Gold Cup class—on display at the show.

Possibilities now are Miss Bardahl and Wahoo.

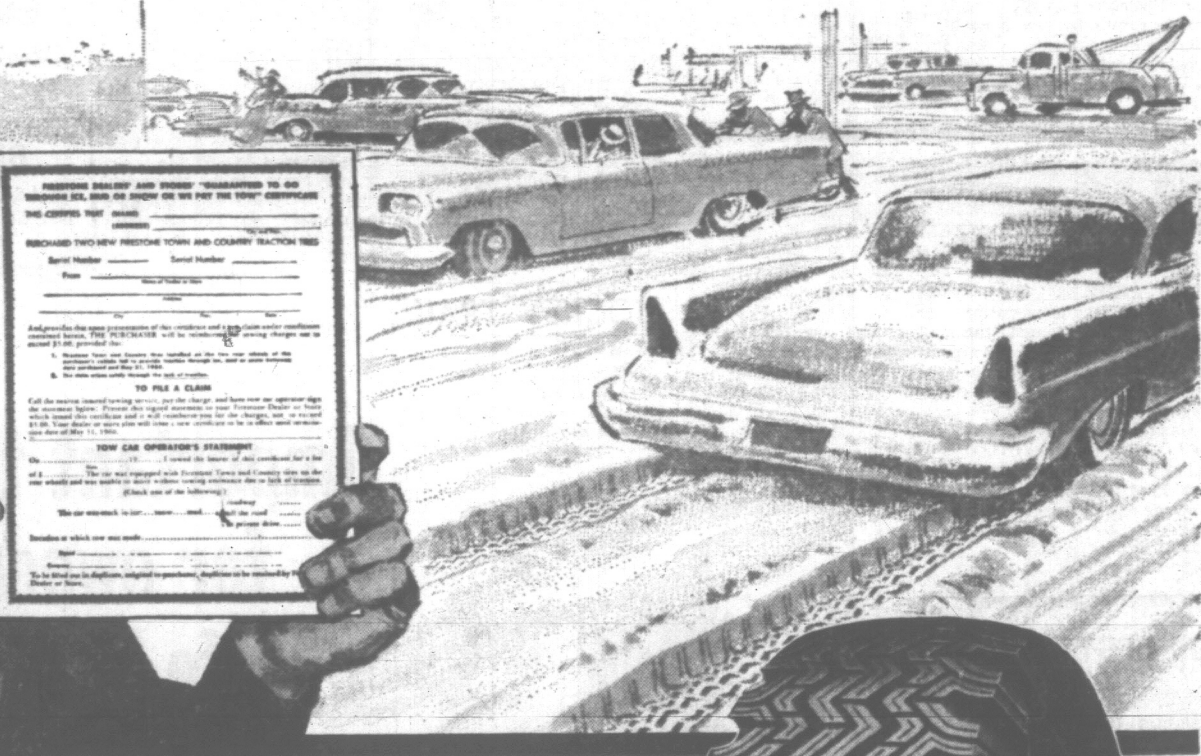

The show for 1960 will be two weeks earlier than the club's first show, held in the curling rink here last April. Like the first show, the second will be limited exclusively to the showing of boats, motors and marine accessories.

The first show was an outstanding success. There were 13,852 paid admissions, and as a result of the support given the show, the club was able to pay off completely its obligation to purchase a 155-acre camping area for Victoria division, Girl Guides, at Coal Creek, west of Sooke.

How the Music Market Is Rigged

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The
payola primer:

Q. What is payola?
A. It is a payment by record and song promoters to powerful parties, especially disk jockeys, to get songs and records before the public.

Q. Is it something new?
A. No, it has been going on since the beginnings of Tin Pan Alley.

Q. Then why all the fuss about it now?

A. Because some people feel the payola has been employed to inflict poor music on the record-buying public, principally teen-agers. Some believe gangster elements are involved.

Q. Is the payola illegal?
A. Possibly. Some say it constitutes a bribe of responsible individuals.

Q. Is payola immoral?
A. Most probably, would think so. Some disk jockeys purport to be reflecting public tastes, while in reality they are playing records they are bribed to play. And they are using air that belongs to the public.

Q. How does payola work?
A. A record promoter pays a jockey a sum of money for repeated plays of a special record. Or else the jockey may receive a regular sum, say $100 or $150 a week for pushing the promoter's product.

Q. Can this get to be big business?

A. You bet. Some jocks are unabashed to admit they draw $50,000 a year under the table.
And the rewards are even greater for a big-time operator. He can demand to have the records he plugs pressed through his own companies, the songs published by his own firms and even take a percentage of the singer's income.

Q. Can hit records be created by the payola?

A. In the rock 'n' roll field,
yes. Such records with no artistic value have been payola-ed to million-sellers, merely by constant play. If teen-agers hear the record often enough, they'll buy it.

Q. Can the payola create stars?
A. Absolutely. No talent youngsters have been shoved to fame by the use of payola on their records. The publicity outlets co-operate, either because of a similar payola or their eagerness to cater to what they think is teen-age taste.

Q. How do gangsters figure in the picture?

A. By their control of juke boxes and their interests in certain singers and record firms.

Q. Who is going to be hurt in this investigation?

A. Some parties who have played cynically with public tastes. And teen-agers who will find that their idols are false.

Q. Who is going to be helped by this investigation?

A. Perhaps you and I, the great bulk who like good music, jazz or sweet, and resist having tastes dictated by mobsters and quick-buck artists.

Bribe-Busters Offer Services

LONDON (UPI) — The Bribery Prevention League was ready today to send its trained investigators to the United States to help stamp out quiz show rigging, payola in the disk jockey field and other chicanery, if asked.

The Bribery Prevention League is an organization under the guidance of a kinsman of Queen Elizabeth—the Marquis of Carisbrook. It operates quietly from anonymous offices.

"I think," said grey-haired Geoffrey Powell, secretary of the BPL, "that a group like ours could help in the world, down to manageable proportions."

"The public, alas, are not frightfully interested in corruption—here or in the United States."

Powell thinks Britain has less bribery now than any time since the war when a black market operated.

BOASTING IN PUBLIC

"But I must confess," he added, "that I have never before heard people boasting of their business peccadilloes at parties and other gatherings.
It's symptomatic of the times.
It's the pity-he-got-caught state of mind."

Powell said there were signs of revulsion in various places around the world against public corruption and bribery. He said that in the east — India and Ceylon are two places — there is a move to consider guilty any public official who cannot account for his bank balance.

"We have some corruption here but in the United States you have whole fire department boards and police force groups and union executives under suspicion, don't you?"
Powell was asked in what field he got most complaints of bribery these days.

"In the competition to sell detergents," he said.

ITALIAN SINGER HELD IN TALENT SWINDLE

VITERBO, Italy (UPI) — Police held former radio crooner Fulvio Pazzaglia today on Italian-style payola charges.

Pazzaglia was accused of promising about 1,300 would-be singers a fame that never came and collecting tens of thousands of dollars in return.

Police said Pazzaglia, a well-known radio singer in the 1930s and 40s, set up an "academy of light music" last year and promised glory to winners of the song festivals it sponsored.

About 1,300 candidates attended the three musicals, said, paying $2.40 for admission, $3.20 to record a song and $48 to pay for the orchestra.

Several persons were reported to have paid extra money in return for the promise of a top placing in the "finals."

HOTEL LOSING THOUSANDS

Baccarat Proves Punters' Dream

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Management of the Sands Hotel wondered today when a costly winning streak by gamblers playing the newly introduced card game of baccarat would let up.

Hopeful bettors were still lined up two and three deep last night waiting to get a crack at the fast-moving game played by 12 players each making minimum bets of $20 up to $1,500.

The hotel introduced the blackjack-like game at midnight Sunday and attracted a flock of all-night gamblers who had taken the house for $251,000 by 5 a.m.

An estimated 700 gamblers sat at the 12 player seats during the first 36 hours as word spread of the winning streak being enjoyed by gamblers in the first legal baccarat game in the United States.

Business at the hotel was reported doubled, with gamblers trying their hands at other games while waiting to sit down at the one baccarat table.

The game, originated in Greece, is similar to blackjack, only the winning total can be either eight or nine instead of 21. Six or eight decks of cards are used and each player withdraws his own cards from a mechanical "shoe" and plays against a house "dealer." The house furnishes the bank.

One chorus girl was reported to have laid down the minimum bet of $20 and shortly thereafter walked away with about $1,200, and an unidentified Texan was said to have walked away with $172,000 after five hours of play.

Oak Bay Employees Pension Boost Urged

Oak Bay council this week is studying a recommendation by Coun. John Watts that financial aid be given former municipal employees by increasing pensions.

Total cost for 21 persons involved would be $417 a month, he said.

The pension increases would apply to persons with service of 13 years or more, or their widows, prior to 1957.

Some pensions paid earlier, under a scheme that "went awry" gave only $13.45 to one man with 21 years service.

Eleven of the persons involved were over 70 to a top age of 85.

The scheme called for one dollar monthly for each year's contribution to the pension fund with a maximum of $25, unless the total pension paid by the B.C. government superannuation branch was less than $50, in which case the bonus would be increased to this amount.

For widows of pensioners, it was proposed that 70 cents monthly be granted for each year of the husband's contribution to the pension plan, with a top of $35.

In other business, council also approved annual indemnities of $1,800 for the reeve and $600 for each of the six councillors, effective Jan. 1.

They will be made in monthly payments.

Of the reeve's indemnity, $1,200 will be granted for services and $600 for expenses;
councillors will receive $400 for services and $200 for expenses.

A system of apprenticeships applied to all trades and professions in the 13th century in England.

Candy Barr Wrapped Up

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Nelson Eddy singing Shortnin' Bread instead of Candy Barr stripping to the strains of A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody . . .

And a nearly-nude chorus line ordered back into costumes.

That's a result of a county official's campaign to improve the moral tone of gambling casinos in this desert resort.

Both steps were taken Monday at one hotel. Another is fighting the county commissioners' demand that it fire its headliner—female impersonator T. C. Jones.

The commissioners included
Jones with Miss Barr and bare bosoms in what they termed unsuitable entertainment.
Jones is appearing at the New Frontier. Hotel show producer Bill Miller said:

"How can I fire him
(Jones)? What's he guilty of? He's a great entertainer and has appeared at a lot of the country's top houses."

Owner Beldon Kattelman of the El Rancho Vegas originally had refused to fire Miss Barr after authorities pointed out that she is appealing a 15-year prison sentence in Texas for possession of narcotics.

County commissioners held a meeting Monday to try and
the 23-year-old blonde fired.

Their decision was aimed at both hotels. They told them to show cause why they should not lose their gaming and liquor licences because of what the commissioners termed objectionable floor shows.

NELSON EDDY

DOG KILLING FINE UPHELD BY COURT

Judge J. B. Clearihue Monday dismissed a Crown appeal that a $10 fine for cruelty to a dog was "not enough."

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy had protested that such a fine would not act as a deterrent to cruelty against animals.

He argued that Magistrate A. I. Thomas should have imposed a heavier fine against Ernest Kay, Sooke Road, when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Sept. 11 to killing a terrier by striking it over the head with a blunt instrument.

The police court charge against Kay was brought by Wing Commander Philip Wilkinson on behalf of the SPCA.

... HERE AND THERE ...

It seems I stuck my chin out when I told of having to flex my muscles in order to get a cup of "strong" tea in a French cafe.

"You are a horrible example of why French should be taught in our elementary schools," says Harold Hoskins of 1227 Douglas. "Grade VIII is much too late to start learning a foreign language."

I agree; except that when you speak a language well the natives do not enjoy you nearly so much. Had I spoken good French, I don't think those cafe people would have treated me half as hospitably as they did. ... And that's where you perfectionists miss the fun!

Letter from D. Leo Dolan, Canadian consul-general in Los Angeles, pays tribute to our publicity commissioner, George I. Warren, as "the only Canadian I know of who has introduced a bill in the United States Congress."

Mr. Warren, you'll remember, successfully agitated for a bill removing import duty on Canadian tourist literature entering the U.S.

"Leo is a live wire, too," reciprocated Mr. Warren.

One of the nice girls who like the Navy is Evelyn Storey, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Storey of 3240 Albion Road.

Evelyn joined the WRENS in Victoria last month and writes to say she is enjoying life at HMCS Cornwallis, Digby, Nova Scotia.

TV is not discouraging children from reading. In Seattle so many youngsters use the public library on Saturday afternoons they have to have a policeman to regulate the traffic!

In Victoria the total number of juvenile readers has increased from 154,582 in 1958 to 186,387 in 1959.

"We don't need a policeman yet," says Mrs. Isabelle Goodwin, in charge of the children's library, "but last Saturday we handled more than 2,100 readers."

Mrs. Goodwin says most youngsters today favor scientific, adventure and animal stories, and the boys, of course, go for a little crime.

In a Chinese restaurant on Fisgard Street I learned something of life in old China and how business bargaining was reduced to something of an art.

It seems you sat cross-legged in front of the dealer and offered him a very small price. He, with sundry bows and compliments, asked a much higher price and you offered a much lower price.

The bargaining continued all day and sometimes for two or three days, except that every now and then it was interrupted by the serving of tea. And (according to ritual) while sipping tea you discussed nothing more serious than the weather.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City police went to sea early today when a citizen complained that the person who stole his dinghy was sitting in it in the middle of the Inner Harbor—singing.

Police borrowed another dinghy and rowed out to the eight-foot plywood boat with the vocal oarsman to arrest him for the theft under $50 value.

City police court was told the man was too ill to appear on the charge today.

A showing of the 10 best British amateur films for 1957 will be presented by the Victoria Amateur Movie Club Friday in Christ Church Memorial Hall at 8 p.m.

A silver collection will be taken.

The top-notch films are Britain's best for the year, and some have appeared on BBC television.

VAMC regular meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. at Norway House.

Among guests at the annual Empress Hotel Christmas party held by New Method Laundries Ltd. here, Dec. 11, will be a group from the DVA Hospital.

They will enjoy dinner at 6:30 p.m. and entertainment following at 8.

Victoria Camera Club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

There will be a showing of slides under the title "Off the Beaten Track in South America."

Harry Bigsby, president, Greater Victoria Music Festival, explained aspects of festival work at a recent meeting of the Victoria branch, B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association.

Several selections were played, including an original composition "Peter Piper" by Mrs. Olive Stuart.

Service Station Robbed of $20

An estimated $20 cash was stolen from a till when burglars broke into Totem Service Station, 1220 Newport, overnight Monday.

Oak Bay police said entry was by way of a skylight.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will be absent from his office for a week or 10 days on a winter vacation. There was no announcement of his destination.

Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization, will address the Unitarian Fellowship of Victoria Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

Former Victoria MP Dr. Frank Fairley will show slides taken during his recent Japan visit at Liberal headquarters, Government Street, Thursday at 8 p.m.

It will be open to the public.

There's no doubt about it, Victoria's perambulating male pheasant Cherry is assuredly "tame."

But he has moments when he does a Brando and becomes one of the wild ones.

Unfortunately, these moments seem to coincide with attempts to get him home, untruffed.

Monday, for example, his mistress, Miss Jessie Read, 1762 Pembroke, caught up with Cherry on Gladstone.

He absorbed a little hand-doled corn, and followed her—much like a feathered dog—at least a block towards home where a Mrs. Cherry and three little pips wait.

Miss Read and Cherry stopped at crosswalks to let buses go past.

Cherry seems quite interested in watching buses.

Then, without even a gate-hinge squawk of warning, he was airborne, skimmed a compost heap and was away into the 6:30 p.m. gloom.

A STUDY IN ARTISTRY

DRIVER CALLS IT 'QUITS' AFTER MISHAP

Charles M. Thompson, 2210 Sayward, beat the magistrate to the draw when he volunteered in city police court today to quit driving.

Thompson pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and was fined $250. Magistrate William Ostler suspended Thompson's driver's licence despite the offer.

Police said Thompson's car sideswiped another auto, causing a second collision at Pandora and Chambers at the weekend.

Fire Drill Trophy For Central Junior

Victoria fire fighters searched 26 public and private schools for the best overall fire evacuation drill and finally found it right across the street from the main fire hall.

Central Junior High School today was awarded a perpetual trophy, offered this year for the first time by Local 730 International Association of Fire Fighters, for excellence in fire drill and fire prevention by its students and staff.

All public and private schools in the city, with a total 13,000 pupils, took part in the competition, aimed at publicizing the work of fire prevention in the schools.

A similar award was to be made this afternoon to Willows Elementary School by Oak Bay firemen, also members of Local 730, IAFF. In Oak Bay the competition was among a total nine public and private schools including kindergartens.

In making the presentation to Central Junior principal William McMichael, fire fighters' president Eric Simmons said the competition was sparked by the disastrous school fire last year which killed 94 children and teachers in Chicago.

Inspector Dick Warner, of the fire department, said the 960 pupils at Central set a new Victoria record of one minute and 37 seconds for evacuating their building. The total enrollment includes 300 new children this term.

Fire chief James Bayliss told the school assembly:

"It is up to you young people going out into the business world to put the fire departments out of business, and I hope you do."

Also present were William Hamilton, Local 730 secretary-treasurer; Insp. Lieut. James Allan; Ray Campbell, Local 730 vice-president; school board representatives Alex Turnbull and Dennis Brown; school board superintendent John Gough; Mrs. A. B. Thompson, school trustee, and Austin Curtis, chairman of city council fire wardens committee.

A belt-line, shoppers' special, bus service will be inaugurated in downtown Victoria about Dec. 4.

Eight large city business firms today pledged a guarantee of $60 each to cover expected costs of the three-week service.

The sponsoring firms appointed jeweller Hugh Francis to head a committee which will ask downtown merchants to pledge a fixed amount to defray expenses of the bus.

Fare will be five cents.

The bus will make a loop starting at Herald and Douglas. It will go south on Douglas to Courtney, west on Courtney to Government, north on Government to Herald.

BCE officials say the loop will be completed in 12 minutes.

Two Victoria delegates will be among 1,500 Progressive Conservative Party members from all parts of Canada, who will meet at Ottawa Nov. 30 to Dec. 2.

They are Gordon Elworthy, a director of the Oak Bay Association, and Eric Charman, a regional director.

Mrs. Nora Lindsay of Saanich Association was named as a provincial executive representative but will not attend. Her place is expected to be taken by alternate delegate Mrs. John Green, formerly of Victoria, but now living at Agassiz.

He has veered around the area like a weathervane.

"I think he is just having a spree—sort of on the town," said Miss Read thoughtfully.

He's even been doing cheeky "fly-pasts" over the Pembroke Street home.

But there are plans for Cherry. They involve a box with food underneath, a string attached to a stick lifting one end of the box, and ... Watch it! Maybe he can read!

Near-Starvation Hits Indians Of West Coast

Clams, Dry Bread Made Steady Diet

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A fisherman on his way to Vancouver today reported to the Times hundreds of Indians on the west coast of Vancouver Island are near starvation.

Alec Anderson, Odium Drive, Vancouver, said Indian families are so destitute they have been reduced to eating clams and dried bread as a steady diet.

He appealed to Victorians to assist them.

Mr. Anderson, returning from the West Coast, made a stopover in Victoria before proceeding to the mainland.

"I found conditions so bad there that I've decided to try to help them when I get to Vancouver," he said.

LITTLE HELP

"The Indians are receiving little government relief," he said.

"The loggers and fishermen are doing all they can to assist them," he added, "but there is a limit to what we can do."

"The Indian children and their parents are underfed," he stated. "There is going to be a lot of sickness on the reserves unless food is shipped there soon."

POOR RETURNS

He said the Indians are destitute because of poor returns from last summer's fishing season.

"If you have no money you can't buy food," he said. "So families have been reduced to what sea food they can pick up from beaches."

Mr. Anderson was unaware that the Indian Arts and Welfare Society last week launched a fund and clothing drive to assist the Indians.

Donations so far total $28 and clothing about three-quarters of a ton.

Col. Gilbert Howland, treasurer of the society, said he was unaware the Indians need food.

THE SCENE WAS SCENE OF CRIME

A thief who broke open a cigarette vending machine at The Scene within the last two days was interested only in money.

Police said a padlock was broken off the machine at the Wharf Street jazz club and money was taken from its coin box, but cigarettes were left intact.

Minister to Run For Council Seat But 'No Promises'

The former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean, today announced he will run for an alderman's seat on city council.

But he was quick to point out that he was prompted to stand for office because of his background of 21 years as a ratepayer, not as a clergyman.

Dr. McLean, well-known minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church since 1938, is the first man of the cloth to run for civic office in the city's history.

"I'm glad to see men of his stature offer themselves for service on city council," commented Mayor Percy Scourrah.

His announcement, the 15th hat thrown into the city election ring so far, was a complete surprise.

INDEPENDENT

Dr. McLean said he was running entirely as an independent and he hoped his example would prompt more persons in the professions to offer their services to their fellow citizens.

"I am making no campaign promises except my slogan: I offer to the citizens of Victoria an informed man's concern for the people of Victoria."

"For 21 years I have been a property owner here and the city has been very wonderful to me. I am offering my services to the citizens, if they want me, to return some of the benefit."

"I have no axe to grind. I am not entering the contest because of any opposition to the present regime."

TO SERVE

"I don't belong to or support any particular group—I doubt if it is wise for the electors to elect their aldermen en bloc. My motive simply is to serve, if the people want me."

Dr. McLean, ordained in 1930, came here from Ontario in September, 1938. He served as chaplain of the Canadian Scottish Regiment since 1939 and at present is the senior Protestant chaplain of 25 Militia Group.

Dr. McLean was a member and chairman of the children's aid society that preceded establishment here of the Family and Children's Service.

KIWANIAN

He has been a member of the Victoria Kiwanis Club for 15 years, including two terms as a director and also as chairman of the school safety patrol committee.

In 1954 he served as moderator of the general assembly, top post of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

He is a past president of the Victoria Ministerial Association and is honorary chaplain of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

Married in 1933, Dr. and Mrs. McLean have three sons.

Third Major Crash Occurs On Bad Curve

The third major auto crash in recent weeks on the same Cordova Bay curve resulted in a total loss of the car driven by Roderick Thompson, 1379 Vista, at 7:40 p.m. Monday.

Saanich police said Thompson escaped unhurt when his car southbound on Fowler, missed a curve on Cordova Bay Road, went out of control, left the road and rolled several times.

Two hours later just up the road, cars driven by David Cooper, of Courtenay, and George H. Galpin, 4050 Hodgson, were in collision at Cordova Bay and Patricia Bay Highway, sending Galpin and his wife Helen, to Jubilee Hospital with minor cuts and abrasions. They were later discharged.

Q: What is the source of the following by Tolstoy? "Without violence and murder property cannot be maintained." B.L.

Question uppermost in the minds of Miss Frances Jordan, left, who offered the hotel lounge for the preview; Mrs. Jack Barroughs, who suggested the idea, and symphony conductor Hans Gruber, who is to give an informal talk on numbers to be played at the symphony concerts next weekend, is whether season ticketholders will attend? ## WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Those in Best of Health Are Apt to Abuse Selves.

It is a human trait to think that it cannot happen to us! Others may break a leg or become a victim of one of the chronic diseases or have a heart attack—but not us!

I have written before about the madness of superlative health. Those who are blessed with an overabundance of vitality may be in greater danger than those who must care for and hoard a smaller store of energy.

It is a great temptation for the one who is never ill or tired to abuse himself. Actually many of those who have lived happily into late years were physical weaklings at middle age. They had to take care of themselves.

Perhaps having some handicap or physical ailment or weakness is the best insurance one could have for a long, vital life. Such folks know what they must do in order to survive and therefore follow the routine outlined for them.

Our health is more important to us than we ever know until we lose it. Haven't you often had the experience of recovering from a virus or bug of some sort and thinking, "I had forgotten how wonderful it is to feel well!"—Health adds an extra bonus to life and is so well worth working for.

When you are in fine fettle movement is a pleasure, hectic situations seem humorous, and we are too busy living to fret over non-essentials. We are too engrossed in interests, work and people, to be sensitive or self-conscious.

The search for or the care of health usually involves seemingly mundane routines such as getting enough sound sleep, relaxation, fine nutrition, regular exercise and maintaining happy mental attitudes. When indulged in regularly these can make life glow for you.

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise planned especially for women, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY...

YES!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am cheap. Here is my problem: I am an 18-year-old girl who is considered quite popular. I have a good reputation. When a fellow takes me to a show or some place nice, I feel that I have to repay him for what he's spent on me. I don't go too far, but I can't turn him down when he wants to park and make out. I am not "in love" with any of them. They are just nice dates. Afterwards I always feel cheap. When a boy has spent his hard-earned money on me, I can't say no. Is this wrong? NOT CHEAP.

DEAR NOT: This is wrong. When a fellow asks you for a date, all he is entitled to is your company. Unless you want to risk your "hard-earned" reputation, don't feel obligated to give a boy his "hard-earned" money's worth.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a person who is ALWAYS late for an appointment? I realize that a person can be late once in a while for good reasons. But this certain person claims he thinks the world of me yet in all the time I have known him he has never been on time for an appointment.

DEAR ABBY: I am going out of my mind trying to figure this out. I can't ask anybody because nobody is supposed to know about it. When my mother married my father she was a widow with two teen-aged daughters, one of whom had a baby fathered by my father before I was born five years later. What is my relationship to the baby my half-sister had? And what pointment. He is always anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour and a half late. I would like your remarks on this subject to be printed, please.

LOSING PATIENCE.
DEAR LOSING: The chronic "late-nik" lacks a very important quality, namely: consideration for others. I have never known a person who consistently kept people waiting who was not equally disappointing in other respects.

DEAR ABBY: I am going out of my mind trying to figure this out. I can't ask anybody because nobody is supposed to know about it. When my mother married my father she was a widow with two teen-aged daughters, one of whom had a baby fathered by my father before I was born five years later. What is my relationship to the baby my half-sister had? And what is that baby to my mother? PERPLEXED.

DEAR PERPLEXED: Your half-sister's baby is your mother's grandchild since it is the child of her daughter. The child is your half-sister (or brother), you have a common father.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOE W.: Your dreams of being a detective are far from foolish. Ask for "Three Stuffed Owls" by Keith Robertson (your school or public library has it). Here is a real cool mystery-detective story about two 13-year-old boys who run their own detective agency and do a neat job of it. (Don't let the title fool you. There's nothing babyish about this book.)

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DINNER HOSTESS OVERDRESSES:

At a recent dinner party, all the women guests came in short dresses and were embarrassed to find the hostess in a formal, floor-length evening gown. I was brought up in the belief that the hostess should "dress down." Am I wrong?

Louise Davis Answers: No, obviously your hostess indicated that her dinner party would be informal. She was inconsistent by going to the extreme and I should think she would be the one to be embarrassed for over-dressing.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished quickly and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only $1.25 for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

—a new widow wondering what she can do with three children under seven.

A young mother with only one small child can usually find someone to provide day care while she goes back to work to earn a living for two people. But who is willing to care for three or four small children? And what young widow can earn enough to house, feed and clothe a family of four and pay a housekeeper? Wise young fathers consider adequate life insurance a "must"—and get as much permanent personal life insurance as they can... while they can!

British Columbia Needs a Distinctive Food Dish, Well Known Chef Tells CAC Meeting

"Let us at least get a British Columbia dish!" So pleaded Karl Breitschmid, guest speaker at meeting of Canadian Association of Consumers yesterday.

Pointing out that the British are noted for their roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, Hungarians for their goulash, French for their crepe suzettes, he stated that Canadians do not have a single distinguishing national dish.

This he felt was due to lack of interest in good eating. "How many families," he asked, "ever sit down to a table that is correctly laid and meals that are carefully prepared? With so many prepared mixtures and canned goods students are not being trained to be good cooks. They just don't know!"

TOO MUCH WASTE

"Instead of home cooking I would prefer to say that they teach home-wasting in school," he said. "Amount of food we waste here is criminal. Many a cook is discouraged from preparing good meals by the number of utensils that they find themselves using. They have never been taught to economize in any way."

Mr. Breitschmid, an experienced chef, received his training in Switzerland, Monte Carlo, Italy and Austria before coming to Canada. Prior to service with the RCAF during the last war he worked in Montreal and Calgary. He now operates his own store and has taught cooking at the Greater Victoria Night School for the last two years.

There was no excuse for lack of variety in meals, he thought.

"Do you realize that there are over 400 sauces that can be served with fish, 800 with meat, 150 ways of preparing beef and 1,000 ways of serving eggs?"

POOR VEGETABLES

"Women," he went on, "should insist on articles that are fresh and good. If you buy a head of celery, it usually just has enough strength to get home to the refrigerator. When you go to use it next day it is limp."

There was too much use of artificial chemical fertilizers Mr. Breitschmid said. He appealed to women shoppers to do something about this.

"Resist!" he said. "Demand better things. If the men don't do anything about it it's up to the ladies to 'take the bull by the horns!' It's up to you."

He recommended that more use be made of spices. "There are over 500 spices," he said,

"What are they but herbs? Isn't it better to enjoy them in good food than to buy them in tablet form from the drug-store?"

He deplored wastage of fruit on Vancouver Island and suggested that women dry what they couldn't use fresh.

"Leave fruits like apples and pears on a screen in the sunshine. You can core them if you want to. They may turn black. When you eventually want to use them, you can soak them in water and you have fruit for the dishes you wish to make."

TRAINING NEEDED

"We must get back to good eating," he stressed. "Too many of the younger generation are growing up with no training in the art of cookery. This is one reason why I enjoy teaching. It is good to know that I am helping to train others to carry on where I leave off."

Association members were told by president, Mrs. L. A. Gordon, that field trip to Growers Wine Company will be extended to two days, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, in order to allow all those interested to attend.

Mrs. E. Mills, western vice-president, reported on recent annual meeting in Ottawa. Members voted that Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Horatio Todd represent them on Local Council of Women.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1 1/2" stock in 10 and 12-inch widths. "FOREST" siding is a new type of siding obtained from specially selected cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

APPEARANCE?

For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound ingrown knots ranging in size from 3/4" to 1 1/2" in width to 4" in length in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" siding, with its substantial thickness and greater strength, is a light weight and easy to handle. The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather and air seal which together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle makes excellent material for the INSULATION standard.

Vagrant Killed by Car Back at 'Scene of Crime'

(From CP Dispatches)
SURREY—Karl Sandstrom, 65, was charged with vagrancy last week when police caught him walking along the centre line of the busy Trans-Canada Highway near here.

Monday night he was struck and killed by an automobile while walking the same place.

Four other persons were injured before Sandstrom was hit by a vehicle which left the scene.

Norman Gill of Surrey, a two-truck driver on the way to another accident, said he swerved to miss Sandstrom but hit a car. A vehicle coming the other way struck the wandering man and fled.

ART THEFT CLUE?
VANCOUVER—RCMP said Monday they have located the 24 frames of a $40,000 collection of paintings stolen from the University of British Columbia earlier this month. There was no sign of the paintings themselves.

An RCMP spokesman said the discovery of the frames in a city dump in the east end "hasn't given us any new clues or theories... but we're checking for fingerprints."

3 HUNTERS MISSING
POWELL RIVER—Search parties were scheduled to leave here today to look for a party of three hunters who are two days overdue.

Glen Drinnen, 32; Alvin Schluter, 39, and Mr. Schluter's son, Raymond, 16, all of Powell River, were expected back Saturday from a hunting trip on nearby Texada Island.

SOS BRINGS CHARGE
VANCOUVER—A Vancouver doctor has been charged with transmitting a false SOS signal from a pleasure boat near here more than a year ago.

Dr. Charles Edward Battle is also charged with transmitting "superfluous radio signals" and "signals containing profane and obscene language."

It is alleged the distress signal was transmitted from the MV Framac near Gambier Island, 30 miles northwest of here, Oct. 12, 1958.

RAIL WASHOUT
PENTICTON (CP)—Heavy snow and rainfall has been blamed for a washout on the CPR line near Hope.

A railway spokesman said several hundred feet of grade on the Kettle Valley line have been destroyed near Lier, 10 miles east of Hope.

PENGUIN HUNT
VANCOUVER—Stanley Park zoo curator Alan Best will leave for the Falkland Islands to bring back "about 40" king penguins if city park commissioners agree to an expedition outlay of $4,000.

Mr. Best plans to keep 20 penguins for the zoo here and sell the others to American zoos to defray expedition costs.

'GET UP AND FIGHT'
KELOWNA—A pale, 19-year-old high school student was released from his hospital bed Monday to testify for the Crown in the case of five persons accused of assaulting him.

"I can remember being knocked into some bushes and a voice saying 'get up and fight or I'll kill you,'" said Terry David Steward, Kelowna High School student.

The youth was testifying in an assault case against Robert Mitchell Jablonski, William Ackerman, Wesley Almond, Ewalt Sapinsky and Gerhard Nargang.

The five are also charged with assaulting Donald Ferguson, 19, a friend of Steward's.

LEGAL SPEED-UP
VERNON—Delegates to the annual conference of Yale County Bar Association during the weekend drew up a three-point decision aimed at reducing delays in legal action in the B.C. interior.

Acknowledge leadership of their executive in cementing a good public information service.

MACHINES UP TOLL REVENUE

OTTAWA (CP)—Toll revenue on the Jacques Cartier Bridge at Montreal rose by $150,000 in a two-month period after substitution of automatic toll machines for men toll collectors, Transport Minister Hees said today.

He added that investigations by the RCMP and CNR experts for efficiency and honesty had been made. No evidence was turned up of dishonesty but one investigation found eight men were not performing their jobs efficiently.

'Revolving Fund' Urged to Provide School Building

DUNCAN — Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce Monday night approved a resolution calling for the provincial government to set up a "revolving fund" to provide for school construction in the province.

Members approved the resolution after hearing two members of District 65 (Cowichan) School Board, chairman John Homer and finance chairman Wilf Peck outline the present system of financing.

Under the chamber plan, the government would advance the money for the full cost of new schools and local school districts would pay their 50 per cent by installment as they do now to bondholders.

WOULD AVOID DELAY
Advantages would be that ratepayers would escape the high cost of borrowing and costly delays in school construction.

The resolution, which will now be submitted to the Associated Chambers of Commerce

Mrs. J. M. Thomas For School Board

Stating that she has been interested in education all her life, Mrs. J. M. Thomas, 4781 Timber Place, announced Monday she will seek election to the school board of District 63.

Mrs. Thomas, the wife of Dr. J. M. Thomas, former principal of Mount View High School, was a school trustee in Saskatchewan before coming to Victoria more than 20 years ago.

5 Armed Convicts Escape

JEFFERSON, N.C. (CP)—Five convicts escaped into rugged mountain country north of here Monday after shooting a work foreman and forcing three guards to give up their uniforms.

The five were among 12 prisoners in a truck being taken to a work assignment. While en route, some of the prisoners cut a hole through the top of the wire cage.

When the vehicle stopped, five prisoners scrambled through the hole and onto guard William F. Handy as he dismounted. Handy was knocked down and disarmed. One prisoner shot work foreman Fields Absher, 55, near the heart.

EXCHANGE SHOTS
Guard Judd Jones exchanged fire with the felons, but one of the convicts held a gun muzzle against Handy's head and ordered Jones to drop his weapons.

"I didn't want to — God knows I didn't want to," Jones said. "But Handy was begging me. He was screaming: 'They'll kill me. They mean it.'"

The seven prisoners who did not participate in the escape pleaded with the felons not to kill Handy as Jones surrendered.

The escapers donned the guards' caps and uniforms and ordered Jones and Handy into the truck cage. The other seven prisoners loaded the mortally wounded Absher into the cage.

ESCAPE IN AUTO
They broke into the home of Mrs. Edd Sheets and demanded the keys to her automobile. The five piled into the car and fled.

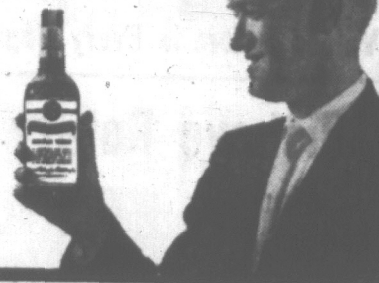

A U.S. census bureau report listed 5,824 blacksmith shops in the United States at the end of 1958.

Jones, Handy and the seven other prisoners, rusher Absher to a hospital.

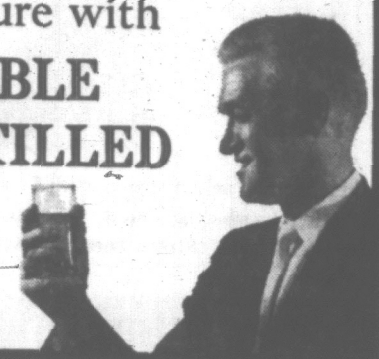

"He died before we got there," Jones said. "I don't believe he ever said a word."

The state highway patrol, assisted by city, county and federal officers, set up roadblocks, trying to keep the heavily armed felons within the mountains where escape routes are few.

'More Services On Less Taxes'

300 View Royal Residents Hear From Pro-Incorporation Forces

View Royal residents were told Monday they would benefit economically and community problems would get faster attention if their unorganized district was incorporated into a village municipality.

A. W. Bradfield, chairman of the View Royal pro-incorporation committee, estimated that village expenditures could be met by a five mill general tax rate as compared with the present 12.17 mills.

"A study shows that this is feasible, but it might be desirable to keep the tax rate at the present level and accumulate reserves for emergencies and local improvements when required," he said.

"But one thing is certain," he added, "As a village we could have all our present services, plus garbage collection, for less taxation than at present."

More than 300 people jammed the community hall to hear the pros and cons on village incorporation.

Property owners will go to the polls on Thursday to decide whether to incorporate as a village under the Municipal Act.

Sixty per cent of the property owners will have to vote in favor of incorporation to make village status possible.

Gov't to Maintain Main Highway

The district takes in about 1,050 acres with about 1,700 home owners.

Outlining the case for incorporation at the meeting sponsored by the View Royal Community Association were R. Stark, president of the association; Jack Flower, past president, and Mr. Bradfield.

J. D. Baird, supervisor of municipalities for British Columbia, answered questions pertaining to the Municipal Act.

Opponents of incorporation were not represented on the public platform, but throughout the evening piled those in favor of a village status with questions.

Here are some of the questions and answers:

Who would maintain the main highway through View Royal?

The provincial government,

as it has done in the past, at no cost to the village.

Who would police the village?

The RCMP at no cost to residents.

Would View Royal lose some of its present free services, such as the provincial library service, public health nursing service, printing and mailing of tax notices, and health and welfare?

No, this would be provided free to the village by the government.

One resident asked if under a village status, property owners would have to pay for the paving of roads and services in new subdivisions.

Mr. Bradfield said the village council could pass a subdivision bylaw like the one initiated in Saanich this year requiring subdividers to construct their own roads.

Estimated $43,000 First Budget

Mr. Bradfield was questioned at length on his estimates for operating a village.

He allowed $10,000 for administration; $2,000 for office space and equipment; $18,000 for public works; $5,000 for fire protection; $6,000 garbage; $400 civil defence; $2,000 contingencies.

The estimated budget amounted to $43,400.

He explained the $10,000 expenditure for administration included salaries for a clerk and stenographer. This would be the only staff required.

"This, as well as the $18,000 for public works could be reduced," he said. "But we estimated high to be on the safe side. We feel that these expenditures could be reduced considerably."

Mr. Bradfield said the estimated revenue would include a provincial grant of $16 per person. It would total $28,192, which would cover a good portion of village expenditures.

In addition, he said, the village would receive $500 from power and telephone utilities; $400 from business and trade licences; $500 from inspection fees, and $13,808 from general taxation.

'CAN'T COMPARE VIEW ROYAL WITH SIDNEY'

Tax Hike Feared by Chief

Strong attack against village incorporation was launched Monday by A. E. Beasley, chief of the View Royal volunteer fire department.

"It is impossible to give View Royal more services for the same low taxes we are now paying under the provincial government," he said in a press release.

The community votes Thursday in a government-supervised plebiscite to decide whether or not the unorganized territory will be incorporated as a village.

Mr. Beasley, a building contractor, said if View Royal incorporates as a village it will lose the free services of the provincial highways department in clearing snow from side roads.

FIRE LOSS

"Fire hazards are high when the weather is cold and residents are stoking furnaces heavily," he said. "Delay caused by snow on the roads could mean a heavy fire loss for someone and extra hazard for our volunteer firemen."

He said fire department costs also will increase as the district grows.

Government grants to a village would not be new grants as suggested but would only be continuation of "the extra money that the government has been expending in this district annually."

He said current costs would be increased by new administrative costs for salaries, equipment and other items if the area became a village.

The village would have to borrow $50,000 to operate during its first six months before tax collections began producing revenue when "this is absolutely the worst time to finance a deal like this."

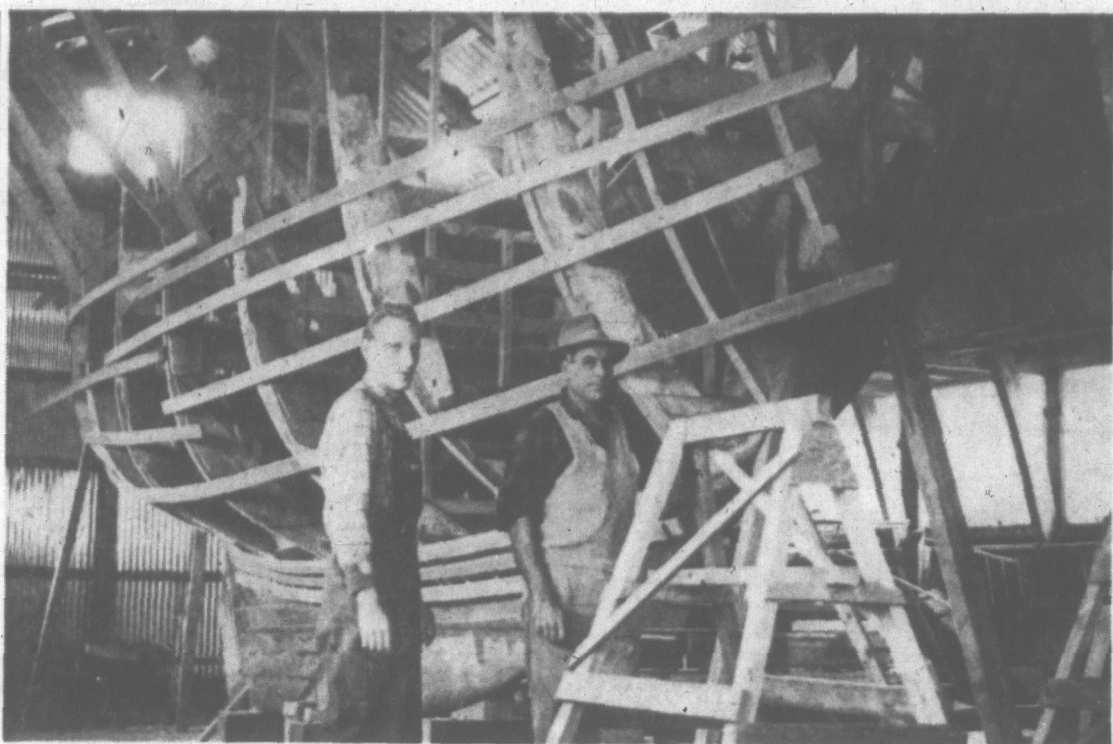

He said road maintenance would require more than the proposed single truck and operator. Incorporation inevitably would increase taxes.

"We have very few business properties to provide revenue for extra expenditures," he said. "We have been compared to Sidney as a village, but as far as I can see Sidney has many more business properties to add to their revenue."

Motorist Avoided Summons for Month

DUNCAN—Motorist Raymond Douglas Wright was not granted time to pay a $25 fine after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without a driver's licence before Magistrate A. C. Sutton in Duncan court Monday.

The RCMP constable acting for the crown told the court Wright had "deliberately avoided being served with a summons" for over a month.

Wright was served Nov. 18 after being checked by RCMP Aug. 4 when he tried to stop a car from passing his vehicle on the Trans-Canada Highway eight miles south of Duncan.

"I tried to stop him from passing me because it was on a dangerous curve," Wright explained.

He told the court his driver's licence expired May 2. Wright was refused time to pay his fine.

The channel hasn't been dredged since it was cut in 1902.

BOTH VICTORIANS

Impaired Drivers Pay $200 Fines

DUNCAN—A truck driver and a logging company construction foreman each were fined $200 when they pleaded guilty to impaired driving here during the week-end.

Both men were from Victoria.

Alexander McMillan, 48, was found slumped over the wheel of his car Sunday with keys in the ignition and lights on.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton said because McMillan wasn't actually driving, he could drive on the job but not for pleasure.

The magistrate suspended the licence of Alvar Kallberg, 55, for 60 days. The logger failed to make a turn on Government and smashed into a telephone pole.

DUNCAN—Three Victoria juveniles, who pleaded guilty to stealing a car to drive home, were remanded in custody for sentence to Friday to allow preparation of probation reports.

One 16-year-old admitted five previous court appearances; another, aged 16, also had five, and the third, a 17-year-old, had one.

Magistrate A. C. Sutton warned the youths that their case could have been taken out of juvenile court and handled in police court and sentences could range up to 10 years.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

DOG KILLING FINE UPHELD BY COURT

Judge J. B. Clearhue Monday dismissed a Crown appeal that a $10 fine for cruelty to a dog was "not enough."

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy had protested that such a fine would not act as a deterrent to cruelty against animals.

He argued that Magistrate A. I. Thomas should have imposed a heavier fine against Ernest Kay, Sooke Road, when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Sept. 11 to killing a terrier by striking it over the head with a blunt instrument.

The police court charge against Kay was brought by Wing Commander Philip Wilkinson on behalf of the SPCA.

It seems I stuck my chin out when I told of having to flex my muscles in order to get a cup of "strong" tea in a French cafe.

"You are a horrible example of why French should be taught in our elementary schools," says Harold Hoskins of 1227 Douglas. "Grade VIII is much too late to start learning a foreign language."

I agree; except that when you speak a language well the natives do not enjoy you nearly so much. Had I spoken good French, I don't think those cafe people would have treated me half as hospitably as they did. ... And that's where you perfectionists miss the fun!

Letter from D. Leo Dolan, Canadian consul-general in Los Angeles, pays tribute to our publicity commissioner, George I. Warren, as "the only Canadian I know of who has introduced a bill in the United States Congress."

TV is not discouraging children from reading. In Seattle so many youngsters use the public library on Saturday afternoons they have to have a policeman to regulate the traffic!

In Victoria the total number of juvenile readers has increased from 154,582 in 1958 to 186,387 in 1959.

"We don't need a policeman yet," says Mrs. Isabelle Goodwin, in charge of the children's library, "but last Saturday we handled more than 2,100 readers."

Mrs. Goodwin says most youngsters today favor scientific, adventure and animal stories, and the boys, of course, go for a little crime.

In a Chinese restaurant on Flagstaff Street I learned something of life in old China and how business bargaining was reduced to something of an art.

It seems you sat cross-legged in front of the dealer and offered him a very small price. He, with sundry bows and compliments, asked a much higher price and you offered a much lower price.

The bargaining continued all day and sometimes for two or three days, except that every now and then it was interrupted by the serving of tea. And (according to ritual) while sipping tea you discussed nothing more serious than the weather.

HE'S ON THE TOWN BUT BUZZES HOME FOR LAUGHS

Cheeky Cherry Does 'Flypast'

There's no doubt about it, Victoria's perambulating male pheasant Cherry is assuredly "tame."

But he has moments when he does a Brando and becomes one of the wild ones.

Unfortunately, these moments seem to coincide with attempts to get him home, unruffled.

Monday, for example, his mistress, Miss Jessie Read, 1762 Pembroke, caught up with Cherry on Gladstone. He absorbed a little hand-doled corn, and followed her—much like a feathered dog—at least a block towards home where a Mrs. Cherry and three little pips wait.

Miss Read and Cherry stopped at crosswalks to let buses go past.

Cherry seems quite interested in watching buses.

Then, without even a gate-hinge squawk of warning, he was airborne, skimmed a compost heap and was away into the 6.30 p.m. gloom.

"I had tried to walk him home," Miss Read said dejectedly.

Each day since the "tame" bird took off through a window broken by strong winds a week ago Sunday, pheasant-watchers have reported Cherry's whereabouts to his owner.

He has veered around the area like a weathervane.

"I think he is just having a spree—sort of on the town," said Miss Read thoughtfully.

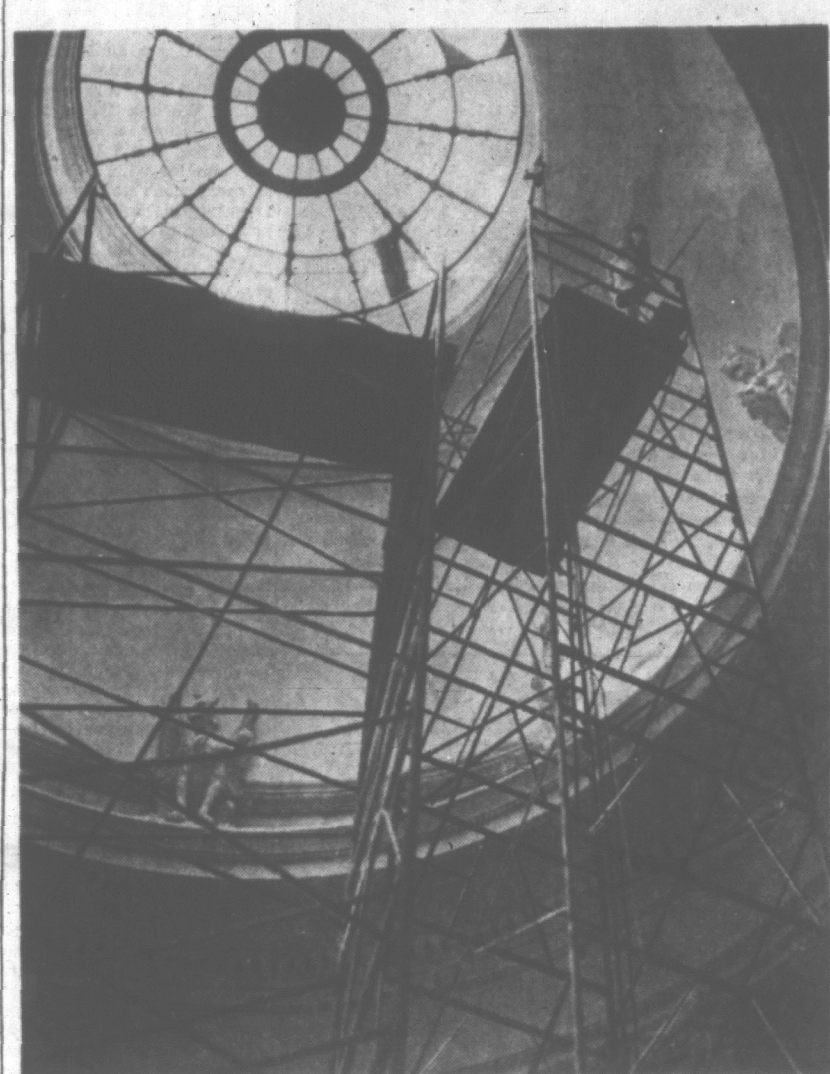

He's even been doing cheeky "fly-pasts" over the Pembroke Street home.

But there are plans for Cherry.

They involve a box with food underneath, a string attached to a stick lifting one end of the box, and . . .

Watch it!

Maybe he can read!

Fire Drill Trophy For Central Junior

Victoria fire fighters searched 26 public and private schools for the best overall fire evacuation drill and finally found it right across the street from the main fire hall.

Central Junior High School today was awarded a perpetual trophy, offered this year for the first time by Local 730 International Association of Fire Fighters, for excellence in fire drill and fire prevention by its students and staff.

All public and private schools in the city, with a total 13,000 pupils, took part in the competition, aimed at publicizing the work of fire prevention in the schools.

A similar award was to be made this afternoon to Willows Elementary School by Oak Bay firemen, also members of Local 730, I.A.F.F. In Oak Bay the competition was among a total nine public and private schools including kindergartens.

DISASTROUS EXAMPLE

In making the presentation to Central Junior principal William McMichael, fire fighters' president Eric Simmons said the competition was sparked by the disastrous school fire last year which killed 94 children and teachers in Chicago.

Inspector Dick Warner, of the fire department, said the 960 pupils at Central set a new Victoria record of one minute and 37 seconds for evacuating their building. The total enrolment includes 300 new children this term.

Fire chief James Bayliss told the school assembly:

"It is up to you young people going out into the business world to put the fire departments out of business, and I hope you do."

Also present were William Hamilton, Local 730 secretary-treasurer; Insp.-Lieut. James Allan; Ray Campbell, Local 730 vice-president; school board representatives Alex Turnbull and Dennis Brown; school board superintendent John Gough; Mrs. A. B. Thompson, school trustee, and Austin Curtis, chairman of city council fire wardens committee.

Bus Service For Shoppers Starts Dec. 4

A belt-line, shoppers' special, bus service will be inaugurated in downtown Victoria about Dec. 4.

Eight large city business firms today pledged a guarantee of $60 each to cover expected costs of the three-week service.

The sponsoring firms appointed jeweller Hugh Francis to head a committee which will ask downtown merchants to pledge a fixed amount to defray expenses of the bus.

Fare will be five cents.

The bus will make a loop starting at Herald and Douglas, it will go south on Douglas to Courtney, west on Courtney to Government, north on Government to Herald.

BCE officials say the loop will be completed in 12 minutes.

Near-Starvation Hits Indians Of West Coast

Clams, Dry Bread Made Steady Diet

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A fisherman on his way to Vancouver today reported to the Times hundreds of Indians on the west coast of Vancouver Island are near starvation.

Alec Anderson, Odium Drive, Vancouver, said Indian families are so destitute they have been reduced to eating clams and dried bread as a steady diet.

He appealed to Victorians to assist them.

Mr. Anderson, returning from the West Coast, made a stopover in Victoria before proceeding to the mainland.

"I found conditions so bad there that I've decided to try to help them when I get to Vancouver," he said.

LITTLE HELP

The Indians are receiving little government relief," he said.

"The loggers and fishermen are doing all they can to assist them," he added, "but there is a limit to what we can do."

"The Indian children and their parents are underfed," he stated. "There is going to be a lot of sickness on the reserves unless food is shipped there soon."

POOR RETURNS

He said the Indians are destitute because of poor returns from last summer's fishing season.

"If you have no money you can't buy food," he said. "So families have been reduced to what sea food they can pick up from beaches."

Mr. Anderson was unaware that the Indian Arts and Welfare Society last week launched a fund and clothing drive to assist the Indians.

Donations so far total $28 and clothing about three-quarters of a ton.

Col. Gilbert Howland, treasurer of the society, said he was unaware the Indians need food.

Minister to Run For Council Seat But 'No Promises'

The former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean, today announced he will run for an alderman's seat on city council.

But he was quick to point out that he was prompted to stand for office because of his background of 21 years as a ratepayer, not as a clergyman.

Dr. McLean, well-known minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church since 1938, is the first man of the cloth to run for civic office in the city's history.

"I'm glad to see men of his stature offer themselves for service on city council," commented Mayor Percy Scourrah.

His announcement, the 15th hat thrown into the city election ring so far, was a complete surprise.

INDEPENDENT

Dr. McLean said he was running entirely as an independent and he hoped his example would prompt more persons in the professions to offer their services to their fellow citizens.

"I am making no campaign promises except my slogan: I offer to the citizens of Victoria an informed man's concern for the people of Victoria."

"For 21 years I have been a property owner here and the city has been very wonderful to me. I am offering my services to the citizens, if they want me, to return some of the benefit."

"I have no axe to grind. I am not entering the contest because of any opposition to the present regime."

TO SERVE

"I don't belong to or support any particular group—I doubt if it is wise for the electors to elect their aldermen en bloc. My motive simply is to serve, if the people want me."

Dr. McLean, ordained in 1930, came here from Ontario in September, 1938. He served as chaplain of the Canadian Scottish Regiment since 1939 and at present is the senior Protestant chaplain of 25 Militia Group.

Dr. McLean was a member and chairman of the children's aid society that preceded establishment here of the Family and Children's Service.

KIWANIAN

He has been a member of the Victoria Kiwanis Club for 15 years, including two terms as a director and also as chairman of the school safety patrol committee.

In 1954 he served as moderator of the general assembly, top post of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

He is a past president of the Victoria Ministerial Association and is honorary chaplain of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society.

Third Major Crash Occurs On Bad Curve

The third major auto crash in recent weeks on the same Cordova Bay curve resulted in a total loss of the car driven by Roderick Thompson, 1379 Vista, at 7.40 p.m. Monday.

Saanich police said Thompson escaped unhurt when his car southbound on Fowler, missed a curve on to Cordova Bay Road, went out of control, left the road and rolled several times.

Two hours later just up the road, cars driven by David Cooper, of Courtenay, and George H. Galpin, 4050 Hodgson, were in collision at Cordova Bay and Patricia Bay Highway, sending Galpin and his wife Helen, to Jubilee Hospital with minor cuts and abrasions. They were later discharged.

TWO FEARED DEAD

Floods Retreat
In Washington

SEATTLE (AP)—The flood crisis in western Washington, worst in a quarter of a century, began to ease slowly today after wreaking havoc in mountains and lowlands and possibly taking two lives.

George Schaeke, wealthy Ellensburg meat packer, was feared to be the disaster's second victim. His expensive car was found smashed, twisted and empty at the edge of a Snoqualmie Pass washout, half buried in mud and debris. Cross-state travel through the Cascades remained sharply curtailed.

About 1,100 persons fled their homes or were rescued as the muddy floodwaters inundated thousands of acres of rich dairy and truck farmland in lower valleys.

Worst damage was along the Snohomish, Snoqualmie and Green Rivers within 50-mile radius of Seattle. The loss will be counted in the millions.

Rivers erupted Monday or during Monday night at record or near-record levels and the weather bureau said light rain showers in the next 24 hours would not halt the drop.

COPTER RESCUE
Most rescue operations were completed in the valleys, which resembled vast lakes dotted by small hills where livestock huddled above the swirling waters.

National guard helicopters were scheduled to drop food and medical supplies—mainly water purification tablets—to the 250 inhabitants of Lester, a railway and logging community isolated by high water in Stampede Pass.

Helicopters also were to attempt the rescue of five persons marooned at Camp Meany, a ski lodge in Snoqualmie Pass.

Many farm families left reluctantly—unwilling to abandon homes and animals. Some refused to budge.

Youth Held

TORONTO (CP)—John Hartford, 19, of nearby Port Credit was charged with murder today in the shooting death of James Beverly Wright, 30-year-old chief office clerk for Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Wright's body was found this morning at the rear entrance to TCA's operations building at suburban Malton Airport, his chest riddled with bullets.

Two airline employees, Joyce Holiday and Marilyn Houston, found Wright sprawled partly inside an office doorway. Police said he had been hit by four bullets fired into the front of his body, one piercing the heart.

Detectives who arrested Hartford seized two .22-calibre rifles and a supply of ammunition. They said he had been fired by TCA a month ago.

Outside the youth's home was a car with a hose line attached to the exhaust pipe and leading into the car's interior.

U.K. OFFERS MISSILE SALE TO GERMANY

LONDON (UPI)—Britain has decided to enter the European missile market in competition with U.S.-made rockets, government sources disclosed today.

Britain's first offer of a short-range missile capable of carrying a small nuclear warhead will be made to West Germany.

Defence Minister Harold Watkinson flies to Bonn Dec. 1, for talks with Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss when the missile offer was expected to be reviewed.

Watkinson's scheduled two-day visit to Bonn is to prepare for closer co-operation among Britain, Germany and other European NATO allies in the field of arms production.

The aim is to establish closer integration, and to avoid duplication.

Nuclear Powers Clear Way
For New Session at Geneva

GENEVA (Reuters)—The United States, Russia and Britain today surmounted another barrier stalling progress on a three-way agreement to outlaw nuclear test explosions.

The three nuclear powers agreed on the agenda to be followed by their scientists at a meeting to discuss detection of underground test explosions.

Scientists of the three nations will start their session Wednesday and report back to the full political conference by Dec. 11.

A communique issued by the three conference delegates—James Wadsworth of the United States, Russia's Semyon Tsarapkin and Britain's Sir Michael Wright—outlined the terms of reference the scientists will follow in their meetings.

The technical experts will decide what readings on detection instruments would justify inspection on the site of a suspected nuclear explosion.

The experts will consider "all data and studies relevant" to the detection and identification of underground explosions, as opposed to natural earthquakes.

They will "consider possible improvements of techniques and instrumentation."

Soviet scientists are expected to submit data alongside that of the United States.

Campaign Boils

By JOHN MIKA

The simmering election cauldron boiled over today as city candidates stirred it up—with challenges and counter-challenges for a showdown over allegations of "suspicious" land deals.

Adding to the sudden eruption of excitement on the election front was an announcement that a clergyman's name will be entered in the civic contest for the first time in the city's history.

He is Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. (See Page 15).

The chain reaction of political crossfire was touched off by mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith's acceptance of a challenge to appear before council to back up his suggestions of "suspicious" circumstances in city land deals.

The furor broke out over five conditions he attached to his acceptance of Ald. Arthur Dowell's invitation to address Thursday's regular council meeting.

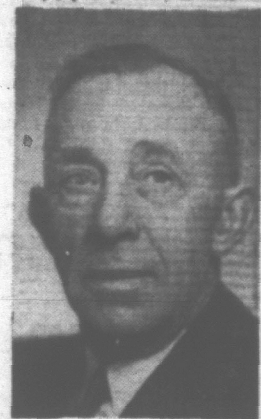

Mr. Smith agreed to appear if:

- The mayor and all aldermen invite him;
- The meeting be switched to an evening session instead of the afternoon;
- He get at least one and a half hours of time to speak;
- The public be admitted and broadcast rights of the proceedings be offered to all radio and television stations;
- If city council chamber is too small to accommodate a crowd, he offered to rent a large hall for the occasion and pay for any deficits.

Mr. Smith congratulated Ald. Dowell for his "concern about election issues; which seems to be absent in the thinking of other members; especially those up for reelection."

"IBONIC"

DONALD SMITH
... he'd rent a hallALD. DOWELL

he continued in the letter of acceptance.

"I must point out to you also that you may have unintentionally overlooked a very important principle in that I and other ratepayers are not responsible to you and council."

"The mayor and aldermen are responsible to us, the ratepayers."

'STAMPED WITH SWASTIKAS'

Austria Protests
Nazis on CBC

OTTAWA (CP)—The Austrian embassy here said Monday it has launched "a categorical protest" against a CBC television program depicting an Austrian village still in Nazi control long after the Second World War.

The external affairs department said it has passed the protest along to the CBC after advising the embassy that the government is not responsible for CBC programming. The corporation made no immediate comment.

"The story shown on the program lacked any foundation whatsoever," the embassy says in a statement. "It is deeply regretted that a completely distorted picture of conditions in Austria should have served as background for a fiction story of this kind."

Austrian officials said they were announcing this through the press because the embassy is "sorry to note that its protest has not led to any public clarification."

An embassy spokesman said particular objection was taken to the program because it showed an Austrian village "rampant with Nazis" and because most of the story took place in an inn "stamped all over with swastikas."

The program was broadcast "No Return" and was entitled Oct. 28 from Toronto as the first half-hour program in the CBC's winter Unforeseen series.

The CBC identified the story's author as Vincent McConnor, the program's producer as Ron Weyman and the executive producer as Peter Francis.

In Toronto, Mr. Weyman said the Austrian embassy "seems to be unduly sensitive" in its complaints.

He said, "the fact is that at no time did the story state it was in Austria."

"It was not set anywhere in particular," he said. "It could have been any small European village."

Mr. Weyman said the show "was a pure piece of entertainment—not a documentary. It was a program of the unusual, the bizarre. It was set in limbo."

COLIN CAMERON

Former MP 'Horried' By Gagliardi

Highways Minister Gagliardi's evasiveness came under heavy fire Monday night from former Nanaimo CCF MP Colin Cameron.

Referring to the Pentecostal minister's behavior during a recent radio debate with B.C. Federation of Labor secretary Pat O'Neal, Mr. Cameron said:

"Listening to him I realized to what depths politics in B.C. had dropped."

Mr. Cameron was addressing the Victoria CCF nominating convention at Wordsworth Hall.

'HENCHMAN'

He lumped Mr. Gagliardi in with other cabinet ministers as "henchmen" of Wenner-Gren who was undertaking the "uneconomic development of the Peace, to satisfy the requirements of the American industrial scene."

In the east B.C. is ridiculed for the easy manner in which it is ready to give away its resources, said Mr. Cameron.

The CCF, he said, is trying to forge a weapon—the proposed labor alliance—which would "clear up this mess."

NOW THEY KNOW

One of the reasons the CCF didn't win in Victoria in the last provincial election, he said, was because the civil servants here "didn't know which side their bread was buttered on."

He said they switched their support from the Conservatives to the Social Credit. Now he hoped they had decided to support the CCF.

Old Campaigners Chosen by CCF

Victoria CCF chose three seasoned candidates to stand in the next provincial election at a nomination meeting Monday night.

They are Mrs. May Campbell, shopkeeper, 1740 Fort; Neil Hindle, ship plater, 501 Niagara; and Victor Williams, service station operator, 1625 Davie.

Mrs. Campbell has been a candidate in provincial elections in Victoria since 1945 and a federal candidate in 1953.

Mr. Williams, chairman of the Victoria association, is also a former federal candidate, and Mr. Hindle is a former provincial candidate.

30 ELIGIBLE

Defeated in the balloting were electrician Fred Bevis and shopkeeper W. A. Scott. Although over 60 attended the meeting, less than 30 were qualified to cast ballots.

Mrs. Campbell said she had announced during her last candidacy she would not stand again, but being active in the party since its formation in 1933 "I find I just can't stand on the sidelines."

She said she felt long-time members owe it to those new members expected from the ranks of labor to remain active to protect the original party policies.

... SMITH

Mr. Smith also invited council to attend his second campaign rally Wednesday in the Crystal Garden.

PERSONAL

Immediate reaction at City Hall was extremely varied, ranging from:

Ald. Dowell's insistence that the Smith allegations were a personal matter between the mayoralty candidate and himself but no one else because they reflected on his reputation as chairman of the lands committee;

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot's stand that he would meet Mr. Smith "anywhere and at anytime" if Mr. Smith would produce facts to back his insinuations;

Ald. M. H. Mooney's position that Mr. Smith already has been invited and should show up Thursday afternoon without attaching conditions because "this is a serious matter and shouldn't be made into a political football";

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood's announcement that he will accept Mr. Smith's invitation and turn up at the Wednesday campaign meeting "to request an opportunity to say a few words after Mr. Smith has spoken."

Ald. Dowell insisted that the whole issue "is not a council nor an election matter at all. This is a personal matter between Mr. Smith and myself and I'm going to write that to him."

"Every land deal in the last six years that I have been chairman of the lands committee has gone through my hands and there isn't the slightest suspicion about any of them that I know of."

"I take Mr. Smith's statement at his first public meeting, referring to 'suspicious' land deals, as a slur on my integrity and honesty."

"All I am asking for is proof of his insinuations and if he brings forward any facts I will immediately ask for an investigation."

Mayor Percy Scurren commented on Mr. Smith's counter-challenge:

NO CIRCUS

"There is no reason to make a circus out of the charges which he has made."

"All we want for him to do is to appear before council and substantiate, if he can, what he said by innuendoes. The press will be present and everything will be public."

Mayor Scurren said he was sure council "would go along with me in inviting him to appear, if he has facts to bring before us. And I'm quite sure council is willing to give him sufficient time to present his case."

Ald. Proudfoot said he was prepared to accept Mr. Smith's conditions in order to get a showdown.

"I'm not on council to hear propaganda from Mr. Smith but I'm quite prepared to meet Mr. Smith anytime and anywhere if he will keep to facts and quote names."

Ald. Edgewood said if Mr. Smith "is sincere then he should be delighted to accept Mr. Dowell's challenge as is."

"The dignity of council must be maintained and council chambers should not be turned into a political platform."

But Ald. Edgewood pointed out that Mr. Smith's reply shifted his previous attacks on Mayor Scurren to the whole council "and I myself would be delighted to answer every one of his innuendoes personally."

afire, some from the plane fuel, others from flames from those sprayed with gas.

Thomas Fracassi, 31, occupant of a house hit by the plane, said the aircraft caved the roof into a bedroom. Two of his three small children were hurt. Fracassi, his wife, Geraldine, 29, and their third child, were unharmed.

The Fracassi home burst into flames. Fire enveloped a six-apartment, three-storey building behind his house.

George Hlavacek, escaped with his wife and 8½-month-old son Jimmy.

"I ran around the side of the house," said Mr. Hlavacek. "Bricks from the back of the house had been shoved into the kitchen, and the back of the house was burning."

CRY FOR HELP

Mrs. Hlavacek said that after she ran out to the front of the house she heard a voice from a neighboring house crying for help.

She thought the voice was that of a teen-age boy. She said the youth must have been buried under debris.

"Fires were starting all over around us," she said. "Everything was confused."

Minutes later some neighbors searched the corner house, she said, located a young man and dragged him from the debris.

Fire Lieut. William Mallory, commanding a company of firefighters digging in the wreckage of a two-storey apartment building, said:

"A woman ran from the building screaming, 'Oh my God, my babies, my babies.' Then she collapsed in shock."

"We haven't found any children, but Lord only knows what we will find when we get in there."

Mallory said the entire area was a sheet of flame when his firemen arrived at the crash scene.

HALF CITY PARALYZED BY DESPERATE SUICIDE BID

VANCOUVER (CP) — A small, sick man who paralyzed half a city Monday in a tense three-and-a-half hour drama enacted high above mist-shrouded Lions Gate bridge, was resting quietly today in Essondale mental home.

Committed under the Mental Health Act was Etienne LeClerc, 48, who stopped hearts and traffic in the city Monday afternoon when he climbed to a suicide perch 360 feet above the murky waters of Burrard Inlet.

Police said today the bearded, unemployed logger, central figure in the drama as he waved a bottle and cursed would-be rescuers while he hung precariously — sometimes by one leg — to a cable ladder, may be suffering an incurable disease of the stomach.

Their information came from a letter found in LeClerc's possession. They declined to discuss it pending further investigation.

Fireman Ralph (Buck) Rogers, who spent more than an hour with LeClerc 164 feet above the bridge road before coaxing him down and preventing his final, desperate suicide bid, had made a similar rescue on the same span last June 30.

On that day, Rogers, a member of the fire department rescue squad, joined two other firemen in a struggle with a kicking, would-be suicide on a similar cable ladder.

LeClerc began his suicide bid at 2:15 p.m. He was immediately spotted as he began his climb clenching a bottle in one hand.

As police, firemen, priests, a helicopter and motor launches sped to the area at the entrance to Vancouver harbor hundreds paused in the dismal downpour, then waited out the drama.

CLOSED BRIDGE

Police immediately closed off the bridge, fearing that traffic vibrations would shake LeClerc from his perch.

Toward the homegoing rush hour, as motorists left for their north shore homes, an estimated 10,000 cars converged on the Second Narrows bridge at the other end of the harbor.

Father Charles B. Paris and Father J. Michael Bach climbed to a tower and used a megaphone to speak to LeClerc from about 30 feet away.

"Come down with us," they called repeatedly to him in French and English. "Don't do it, Tommy. Don't jump, in the name of God, don't jump."

Jabbering and gesticulating, LeClerc shouted back:

"If you got to go, you got to go. You can't hurt nobody."

EVERY INCH

Finally LeClerc said he would come down.

Soviets Claim Record

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has claimed a world speed record for helicopters 167.98 miles an hour. Press reports said the 80-passenger M-16 helicopter set that mark on a 60-mile flight. Major Roy Anderson of the United States set the previous record of 162.74 miles an hour in 1956.

"It was a fight every inch of the way down," said Rogers later. "And when we got about 12 feet from the bottom he did actually try to jump."

Rogers anticipated the move and deflected the man's fall so he landed on the sidewalk of the three-lane bridge.

"I had to fight him not physically but mentally as we came down rung by rung," said Rogers.
